Scarlet Displays Smooth Offensive

Dye Leads Scoring With 7 Points; Olsen Pleased With Improvement Shown In Mastering Fast-Breaking Offense.

Well-pleased with the improvement shown by the Bucks in subduing Marietta Wednesday 32 to 21, Coach Harold G. Olsen is expecting the Scarlet to function with precision against the Carleton five Saturday at the Coliseum.

The quintet from Northfield, Minnesota, is one of the best "little" teams in the country, and plays the most advanced type of basketball, many of its players graduating to the coaching ranks.

The squad is composed of veterans who are not new to meeting Conference opposition, as Carleton takes on Big Ten teams the early part of every season.

In defeating the Pioneers, Coach Olsen utilized every man on the squad to wear down the opposition and get a line on his reserve strength as well.

Tippy Leads

Coach Olsen was particularly pleased with the game played by William H. H. (Tippy) Dye, who, placed in the tilt midway in the first half, displayed a speedy floor game and managed to sink three baskets and one foul in the process.

The first half saw the Pioneers constantly bottle up the Buck offense, and manage to stay close behind in the scoring. The half ended, Ohio State 18, Marietta 13.

In the second period the Pioneers could not penetrate the Bucks' man-to-man defense and were held to a brace of baskets from beyond the foul line, while the Scarlet went on a scoring spree as the Marietta five bogged down under the constant pressure of a constantly changing lineup.

Thomas Makes 3

Thomas, Ohio center, led in the number of baskets made, accounting for three, while Whitlinger, Dye, and Wilson made two apiece.

Bickel, Marietta forward, led the Pioneers in scoring, with two baskets and two throws from the charity line.

Coach Olsen will continue to drill his men on the fast-breaking offense he is trying to install, and will brush up on plays to be used against Carleton.

The game with the Northfield five will conclude a basketball clinic to be held Saturday morning and afternoon.

Visitors Make First Of 2 Baskets After 29 Minutes Of Play

Laybourne, Wilson, and Whitlinger Lead Buck Scorers;

Shooting Poor.

In as lacklustre a basketball game as has been played in the Coliseum in years, the Buck hoopsters made it three in a row by trimming Carleton, 24 to 13, Saturday night.

Approximately 3,870 spectators saw the climax of the basketball clinic held that day, and the game that evening was indeed the patient to be diagnosed.

In the first half, both teams shot* and time again from beyond the foul line and under the basket, the ball constantly rolling off the edges, or swirling out of the net after it had once been in.

Busich Makes First

During that first session, the Bucks made two baskets, both from tip-ins after missed fouls. Busich meeting of the Association of

Throughout the game, both teams fouled freely, Ohio men committing 14 personals, and Carleton 10. Inwood Smith and Rafdal, Carleton guard, were best in roll-blocking, with Smith getting slightly the worst of it in a personal duel.

The Bucks' starting lineup was somewhat of a surprise. Olsen started Busich at center, Peters and Laybourne at forwards, and Beitner and Dye at guards. Wilson replaced Peters mid-way in the half, and Whitlinger, Smith, and Thomas were sent in before the half ended.

Lineup Unchanged

Carleton's lineup remained practically the same throughout the game, with Parker and Okoren at forwards, McCarthy at center, and Powell and Rafdal at guards.

Late in the last session, Larson replaced Rafdal, and who went right back in after Larson hit the rough Coliseum floor three times in as many minutes. Johnson replaced McCarthy, Carleton center, who went out on personals, and Sparkes replaced Parker at forward.

After establishing a comfortable margin in the second half, Olsen sent in a stream of substitutes as he tried out various combinations. Fourteen men in all saw action.

For the Bucks, the flashy play of Laybourne and Wilson was outstanding, while the floor games of Tippy Dye and Inwood Smith kept the Carleton five constantly on the run.

Beitner Benched

Bill Beitner was taken from the game in the first half, and did not leave the bench during the remainder of the game.

Wilson and McCarthy both left the games on personal fouls, as Frank Lane of Cincinnati and Dave Reese of Denison called fouls closely.

Carleton never penetrated the Bucks' man to man defense more than a half-dozen times, and did not seem to realize that more long shots from beyond the foul line might have been their salvation.

The Bucks' next opponent will be Temple at Philadelphia December 28.

TEMPLE TAKES BUCKS, 28-24

Philadelphia Quint's Bombardment in Second Half Brings Win.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 28. — (AP) — A 12-point last-half bombardment gave Temple University's fast-moving basket ball quintet a 28 to 24 win over the formidable Ohio State combination tonight for the Owls' fourth straight triumph of the season.

EVEN AT HALF.

Held to a 16-16 deadlock through the first half and battled to a standstill well into the second, the Owls suddenly went out in front on field goals by flashy Reds Rosan and Left Guard Ernie Messikomer, and then fought off the Ohio State rally in the closing moments.

Messikomer, leader of the Temple offensive, piled up 11 points in the battle, while the only Ohioan able to make any sort of headway through the Owls' defense was Left Forward Laybourne, who tossed in three field goals for a six-point total.

Bucks Defeat Xavier, 31-28

CINCINNATI, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Led by Tippy Dye, Ohio State University's cage quintet celebrated New Year's eve tonight by easing a 31 to 28 victory from Xavier University.

It was Dye's game. He was fouled by Co-Capt. Russ Sweeney of the Musketeers, with only a second or two to play, and the game went into overtime.

Sheridan, inserted at this point for Sweeney, dropped in four points to give Xavier a 28 to 27 lead with two minutes remaining.

The midget guard then broke loose with an exhibition akin to his broken field running on the gridiron, to sink two buckets for Coach Olsen's men, and clinch the game.

After the first four minutes of play, neither team had more than a four-point lead. The Scarlet and Gray led at the half, 13 to 10.

For Ohio State, Dye led in scoring. In fact, he led both teams, with 12 tallies, while three men were tied with six points each on the Musketeer squad.

Rosenthal, Blackmer Lead Hawkeye Attack

Midget Forward and Giant Center Score 21 Points For Old Gold Team as Bucks Bow, 32 to 21; Laybourne and Dye Outstanding for Scarlet.

IOWA CITY, IOWA, JAN. 5.—Paced by a midget forward and a rangy center the University of Iowa basket-ball team opened its Big Ten season before 5000 fans here tonight with an impressive 32-to-21 victory over Ohio State.

Unable to penetrate the Iowa defense with any consistency the Buckeyes had to rely upon long shots almost all the way while the

Rosenthal Stars

Sid Rosenthal, only an inch taller than Ohio State's Tippy Dye, Ivan Blackmer, six foot, four-inch center, found the range consistently and between them equalled the total of the Buckeyes. Rosenthal in particular was annoying to the ragged defense of the visitors as he intercepted passes and by fast floor work gave the winners most of their scoring opportunities. Dye and Bruce Laybourne were the best all-around performers for the invaders.

A feature of the contest was its remarkably clean play despite the terrific speed at which it was played.

Iowa scored first on a free throw by Blackmer but Dye's long shot gave the Buckeyes the lead, Blackmer dumped in an under basket shot and then Laybourne hit on a long try to put Ohio State into the lead for the last time as Johnny Barko connected on a setup and added a free throw.

Bucks Outclassed

With Rosenthal setting the pace with three baskets the Hawkeyes increased their margin to 17 to 4 with only four minutes left in the half before Smith counted a free throw for the outclassed Buckeyes, Whitlinger and Laybourne scored from the field to make the count 17 to 9 as the half ended.

As the last period opened the visitors managed to match the Hawkeyes point for point although unable to cut the lead to any extent. With the period half over the count stood at 27 to 17.

The last few minutes saw Iowa increase the lead to 32 to 18 before Iowa reserves entered the game.

The Buckeyes were desperately trying to hit on long shots as the game ended.

Scarlet Fail To Come Close As Froschauer's Shooting Leads Way In 44-23 Victory

Captain Hits Net For 18 Points To Take High Scoring Honors; Bucks Lose Eye For Basket.

By HARRY VOLK
Eastern Sports Editor

They're gone, but it will be a long time before the 5281 spectators who saw the Illini trounce the Bucks at the Coliseum, 44 to 23, Saturday, forget these Orange and Blue sharpshooters. It was uncanny how the ball seemed to find the exact center of the hoop about 50 per cent of the time. To be exact, the average was 43.3 per cent.

Annie Oakley, from whom the slang expression for a complimentary ticket is derived, may have hit the bull's-eye as freely as a Penny conductor puts his ticket in a Pullman ticket, but she did not hit the mark as accurately as Froschauer. At this point the score was 9 to 6, and that's the closest the Bucks ever came to leading.

Froschauer Hot

Froschauer, who during the hey-day of the pigskin is a basketball man, was, in fact, remarkable. Not only was he accurate, but he was phenomenal. The way he sent that inflated, round, leather ball through that hoop, almost at will, was more than basketball, it was magic.

Seven times he found the mark, and seven times the crowd whistled through their teeth. No sucker shoots, either. Long, graceful, curving shots from far beyond the foul line were the order of the day. The length of the field to Combes, who was free under the basket. The sucker shot was good.

Combes made a foul shot, and then Froschauer drove the sucker at the court to flip the ball, almost unconsciously, through the hoop in a beautiful, one-handed shot. The next basket came when lanky Regel took the ball off his backboard and whiplashed it into the basket.

Trailing 8-0, and missing set shots like a drunk throwing cards at a hat twenty feet away, the Bucks could do nothing to stop the deadly har-
-rassment directed at them from under and eventually did.

For the brief space of five minutes, the Bucks showed some color. Bill Belter made the first basket in a high-arching shot from mid-floor,

Too Much Froschauer

After that brief spurt, the Illini took up where they left off and the Bucks continued to play defense. Froschauer continued, while the Bucks still kept throwing cards at a hat.

The score at the half was 27 to 15. In the third quarter, the South Main players began cut down the scoring somewhat, but the Illini captain managed to send them more through the hoop. Lineups:

Whitlinger Leads Bucks To Victory With 17 Markers

Maroons Occupy Cellar Position After Fourth Straight Loss; Beltner Holds Haarlow To Three Fielders.

By HARRY YOLK
Lantern Sports Editor

Warren (Wee Willie) Whitlinger, the Little David of the Big Ten, armed himself with a sling shot full of baskets and set out to conquer the Chicago Maroons and their Goliath, Bill Haarlow, Monday night.

He almost did, scoring 17 points as the Bucks won their second Conference game in four starts 37 to 21 at the Coliseum before 3443 spectators.

The cellar club from the Windy City was stopped as cold as the nose of a polar bear, but the Maroons had a merry time of it, swishing the ball through the hoop.

Ohio's starting lineup was somewhat of a surprise, although what was expected. Whitlinger, center, Thomas at center, and Smith and Beltner at the guards, giving the Bucks more height and left than ordinarily. Bruce Laybourne was the only player who had played in two games in the Illinois game.

Makes "Haarlow" Shot Wee Willie lost no time in getting out his slingshot. After the first shot he started hitting the net with number three as he got into the swing of things. Not satisfied, Whitlinger caught up with Ted Wilson, who sent in a hasty, but well-timed shot. Then, Whitlinger stole the ball from Lang, Chicago guard, dribbled the length of the court, and made number four pushing through the net.

Dye replaced Smith, who managed to limp out of the game with a sprained ankle, and he and Whitlinger cooperated in a few late scratches that put Dye in scoring position. He made the basket, and Whitlinger closed the period by dribbling in for the winning score. Chicago missed on many shots as Ohio did against Illinois. The Maroons weren't entirely blanked. They made five fouls. In the closing fight, the referees might have thrown in the towel at this point as the Bucks were everywhere, and Chicago was under their feet. The Maroons, who are used to taking it, felt that a trouncing like they were getting from a team like Ohio State, was too much.

Peterson Scores These and other second-half highlights might have been kicked off as far as floor tactics were concerned. Peterson made an under the basket shot, and made a similar shot a few minutes later. As the game progressed, he was one of his famous one-handers as he eased out from Beltner's eagle-like eye. He made two more nice shots during the course of the evening as he showed the value of the curling shot. The Bucks and George and Peters accounted for a brace of buckets, and Dye made a lone two-pointer.

Like a slot-machine operator who himself of slugs. Chicago had missing a total of 14 free throws. The game was played under the rules for all covered set under definite rules, but resembled a basketball club. Except for occasional bad moments, the game was a pleasure to watch. The Scarlet citizen in plebeian fashion.

VICTORY BOOSTS BUCKEYES INTO TIE FOR FIFTH PLACE

Whitlinger Plays Sparkling Ball for Olsenmen in First Triumph Over Wildcats on Basket-Ball
Floor Since 1929 Season.

EVANSTON, ILL., JAN. 26.—Ohio State defeated Northwestern, 29 to 19, in Patten gymnasium here Saturday night in the Buckeyes' first basket-ball triumph over the Wildcats since 1929.

The Buckeyes jumped into an early lead and maintained the upper hand throughout, enjoying a 14-to-9 lead at the half.

Tie for Fifth

The victory boosted the Buckeyes into a tie with Illinois for fifth place in the Conference standings with a record of three wins and two losses. Monday night, H. G. Olsen's charges meet Chicago at Chicago in a return game.

Warren Whitlinger, midget Ohio State forward, paced the Buckeyes in scoring with 11 points, picked up on four baskets and three free throws.

Other Buckeye stars were Beitner and Smith, guards, who limited Northwestern to a total of four baskets. Thomas was second to Whitlinger in scoring with six points while Tippy Dye, who also held down a forward berth, was third with five.

Wilson and Thomas of Ohio State and Vance of Northwestern were put out of the game on personal fouls.

Ohio Takes Lead

Ohio jumped into a two-point lead in the first minute of play when Wilson made good a pair of free throws on Vance's foul. The latter then put the Purple in front by ringing up three points on a free throw and a field goal. McAnally and Fisher increased the Wildcat lead with a free throw each only to have the visitors tie the score on Whitlinger's free throw and a basket by Smith.

The Buckeyes then uncorked a rally which netted seven points, five of them resulting from some fancy shooting by Whitlinger who pumped in a pair of baskets from side court shots and two free throws.

Northwestern proceeded to narrow the gap on Vance's follow in shot from under the basket and two free throws by the same player. Thomas pitched in a field goal just as the gun sounded at the end of the first period with the Buckeyes leading 14 to 9.

Both teams were guilty of numerous infractions during the period, a total of 16 fouls being assessed by the officials. Northwestern missed eight of 13 chances from the foul line while the Buckeyes made good on six out of seven.

"Tippy" Dye Connects

Dye opened the scoring in the second half on an under the basket shot. Kawal retaliated with a long one from midcourt. Ohio counted three points on a basket and two free throws by Thomas bringing the score to 20 to 11 in favor of the Buckeyes.

Four consecutive free throws by Kawal and one by Fisher, enabled the Wildcats to narrow the gap to 20 to 15. Ohio then rang up six points on two baskets by Whitlinger and one by Beitner to bring the score to 26 to 15. Fisher's basket and two free throws brought the score to 26 to 19.

Dye dropped a one-hander from in front of the basket and a moment later tallied the final point for Ohio on a free throw.

HAWKOW COPS LEAD.

Ohio State forged to the front early in the first half and at the intermission had a six-point lead, chiefly through the shooting of Warren Whittinger. The second period got under way and with Bill Hawkow and Bill Lang hitting, tied the count at 25-all. From there on it was a dog fight, the lead changing hands five times before the final Buckeyes spurt put the Haw-ers in front for the last time. Hawkow, by hanging in six field goals and three free throws, took the individual scoring leadership away from Johnny Saxo of Iowa, with 22 points to 53 for the Hawk-ers.

BUCKS IN FOURTH STRAIGHT VICTORY

George Scores Five Baskets as Scarlet Dribblers Record Victory; Marty Peters Checked In Second Half.

By CLARENCE YOUNG.

OHIO STATE, 31; Notre Dame, 22—quite a few points to score in one football game. But wait a minute. This isn't football, it's basket ball and the Ohio State court team won over Notre Dame, 31-22, last night at the Fair Grounds Coliseum for the Bucks' fourth straight victory.

NO HARM HOPING.

However, there's no harm in Ohio State football partisans hoping that the scarlet-clad warriors give Notre Dame a dose of the same medicine on the Ohio Stadium lawn next November.

Except in the opening moments of play, when Marty Peters' free throw gave the visitors a 1-0 edge, the Bucks held the upper hand over their South Bend rivals. After enjoying leads of 6-1 and 12-5 at two different periods of the first half, the intermission found the home forces on top, 13 to 10.

Ohio State profited by phenomenal shooting early in the game. The Bucks clicked through five straight baskets without missing a shot after "Tippy" Dye failed to locate the network on the first attempt. Five fielders in six tries—not bad.

FORWARDS DON'T SCORE.

In the second half, Augie George stopped Peters, the Notre Dame scoring ace, like Max Baer stopped Primo Carnera. George, besides continually getting into Peters' hair, rang up five baskets to gain individual scoring honors for the evening. Using the pivot play, the big Daytonian operated very effectively.

The Notre Dame forwards—Joe O'Kane and John Ford—provided little in the way of a scoring punch for the Ramblers, each contributing only one basket.

Peters, despite his sad second half experience against George, managed to take the Notre Dame point-making laurels with a total of eight, five of them being counted before the middle respite.

Inwood Smith of Ohio State and George Ireland of the Ramblers each recorded six points, while Jack Wilson, a late substitution for the Bucks, accounted for five.

IRISH COACH ILL.

A crowd of 5117 saw the game. Capt. Bill Beitner and Warren Whittinger witnessed hostilities from the bench, Coach Harold G. Olsen choosing to accord them a much-needed rest in preparation for the second portion of the Big Ten campaign which opens Monday night at Purdue. The next home appearance of the Bucks will be against Iowa the night of Saturday, Feb. 9.

George Keogan, the Irish coach, was not forced to view the proceedings, as an attack of grip refused to allow him to make the trip here. Two of his assistants—Tom Conley and Joe Boland—were in charge of the Notre Dame squad. Lineup and summary:

OHIO STATE QUINTET BOWS IN DEFEAT AFTER LEADING AT HALF BY 31-16 MARGIN

Bob Kessler Racks Up 20 Points for Boilermakers; Wild Second Half Marks Contest; Seward Sparkles at Pivot Position; Wilson Tallies 13 Points for Scarlet and Gray; 10 for Whilinger.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The wildest second-half rally seen here in 10 years held Ward Lambert's Purdue team secure in the leadership of the Western Conference basketball ball race tonight by the narrow margin of a 42 to 41 victory over Ohio State. Trailing by 15 points at the half, the Boilermakers went on a scoring rampage led by Bob Kessler, forward, who racked up 20 points, and overhauled the Bucks with four minutes to play. A free throw by Downey, Purdue guard, on Carroll Owen's foul in the last minute won the game. It was Purdue's fifth victory in its defense of its Big Ten title, against a single defeat.

The Bucks have suffered three reverses, and have won four games. Wilson, Whilinger and Thomas led the Ohio attack, while Dye was a defender star. Seward's pivot work and defensive play rivaled the scoring of Kessler and Downey for Purdue.

The Boilermakers opened up after trailing, 31 to 16, at the 15-minute mark and scored 10 points to cut the Buckeye lead to 31 to 26. Purdue then scored 12 points in the next eight minutes, leading at 38 to 30 with eight minutes of play remaining. Kessler suddenly broke loose for two field goals and two foul tosses to aid in knotting the count at 38, and White's free throw put Purdue in the lead with four minutes left.

SPEEDY BUCK QUINTET REGISTERS SIXTH WIN IN BIG 10 CAGE RACE

Earl Thomas Leads Scarlet Aggregation to Victory as Wildcats Are Tamed After Several Unsuccessful Uprisings Before 5909 Spectators.

By ROBERT E. HOOEY, State Journal Sports Editor.

THE ferocious Wildcat of Northwestern was tamed by the Buckeye of Ohio State, 41 to 29, last night at the Fair Grounds Coliseum as the Scarlet-clad courtiers chalked up their sixth victory in the Western Conference basket ball race. The contest was more interesting and thrilling than the wide margin of score indicates. The Wildcats were rough, played rough but all their roughing came to no avail as the battling Buckeyes gave tit-for-tat whenever their comfortable edge was threatened.

only 11 times out of 52 efforts.
A crowd of 5909, just four less than saw the Buckeye push Iowa out of the Big Ten race Saturday, witnessed the game. The musicians' blood-curdling marches also made the evening's entertainment worthwhile.

ILLINOIS FIVE SCORES 43-36 CAGE VICTORY

Winners Have Big Edge
At Half; Whitlinger
Gets 11 Points.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 18.
—(AP)—Illinois quenched Ohio State's hope of sharing in the Western Conference basket ball title tonight by defeating the Buckeyes, 43-36.

The Illini led from start to finish, and except for occasional Ohio spurts, had the situation well in hand.

SET FAST PACE.

Paced by Wilbur Henry and Harry Combes, who led a sensational shooting attack in the first half, which produced 10 field goals in 23 shots, Illinois had a 12-point margin at intermission time. The Buckeyes worked in for plenty of shots, but had little luck.

Henry topped the Illinois with 15 points, while Warren Whitlinger, the Buckeye ace, after being held to three points in the opening period by Combes, broke away for eight more in the last half.

The result left Illinois still among the longshot possibilities for the title with five victories and three defeats. The defeat was Ohio State's fourth in 10 Conference games. About 4500 saw the contest.

Michigan Surprises In Close Cage Game But Succumbs 30-28

Whitlinger Leads Scorers With 11 Points As Beitner, Wilson, Wendt Play Final Game Of Careers.

By JERRY BRONDFIELD

Michigan's Maize and Blue Wolverines proved a lot more troublesome than they were expected to be, at the Coliseum Saturday night, and had the crowd of 5409 thinking in terms of "upset" during the last minute or so of play before the Bucks won out 30-28 in the last contest of the year for the Scarlet court men.

The Wolverines, playing a surprising brand of basketball from behind with a rush in the closing minutes of play, and from a score of 29-21, brought the count up to 30-28 with a bare minute of play remaining.

Floor Game Off

A slipshod brand of floor game plus an unusual number of missed shots at the basket caused the Buck game to appear far from what it has been in the last five games. The smooth-working offense which found the Bucks breaking in for close-up shots was missing a great deal of the time, and most of the field goals were registered from out beyond the foul line or on side shots at an angle.

The Bucks started fast, and after trailing 2-1 for a brief moment early in the game, left the Wolverines behind 9-2. The Maize and Blue rallied, however, and brought the count up to 17-10 at half-time.

Myers Leads Wolves

Coming out for the second period, Earl Myers, sophomore forward led the Wolves in a sudden spurt which found them trailing the Bucks by a single point, 18-17. Myers, a clever exponent of the jumping, one-hand push shot, connected for two goals and a foul in rapid succession in setting the pace for the Maize and Blue rally.

Whitlinger, Thomas, and Dye collaborated, however, in bringing the Bucks out of danger, but Myers and Oliver again brought Michigan within dangerous striking distance of the Scarlet.

Whitlinger scored once again for the Bucks and then with the count 29-21 the Wolverines made their final desperate rally. Plummer and Oliver led the Michigan attack in the final minutes of play, with the latter dropping in a long shot just before the game ended.

Whitlinger High

Warren Whitlinger led the Bucks in scoring with five field goals and a foul for 11 points, with Tippy Dye close behind him with nine markers. Meyers paced the Wolverines with four field goals and a foul for the same total as Dye's.

The victory marked the last appearance of Captain Bill Beitner, Red Wilson, and Chet Wendt, and brought the Bucks' season record to eight wins and four defeats.
