Buck Cagers Lose To Oklahoma In High Scoring Tilt

Crowd of 8049 Sees Tippy Dye's Inexperienced Crew Show Promise But Fall Short of Victory

By KAYE KESSLER

Ohio State's cagers showed a lot of promise but Oklahoma showed more points and the smooth Sooners from the southwest spoiled the Bucks' opener 62-53 in the Coliseum Friday night.

An overflow crowd of 8049, largest in two years, jammed the fairground cage house to watch the Buckeyes battle the Oklahomans on even terms for the first half and then let down long enough after halftime to let the victory slip away.

Captain Tippy Dye's inexperienced Scarlet and Gray courtsters showed possibilities of developing into a serious Big Nine contender with fine speed and teamwork but faulty ball-handling and inept rebound work choked their last half victory bid.

Visitor Leads Scoring

Paul Courty, clever Sooner forward and only returnee from the Oklahoma quintet that went to the National Collegiate finals last year, pumped seven field goals and two fouls through the hoop to lead the scoring parade with 16 points.

The Buck's Neil Johnston and Oklahoma's Bill Waters, a couple of 6-ft. 5-in. centers, matched five field goals and five free throws to take runner-up honors with 15 points each.

Courty's coolness and fancy ball handling proved the difference as he set the pace for his teammates from start to finish.

The Bucks were definitely in the game the first half. Forward Dick Schnittker canned a lay-up five seconds after the start and Johnston followed with a tip-in for a 4-0 Ohio lead.

Two quick pivot-shots and a tip in by Waters put the Sooners out front and it was nip-and-tuck the rest of the half.

Biggest Buck Lead

Biggest Buck lead came in the middle of the first half when Johnston sunk a foul to run the count to 25-19, but a late scoring spurt by Waters moved the visitors out front 30-29 at the half.

A sudden scoring spurt at the outset of the second half with all of the Sooners joining in boosted their margin to 40-31 and that was the difference.

Asserting its superiority in the second half, Oklahoma's smooth-as-silk basketball combine defeated Ohio State, 62 to 53, in the Bucks' opener last night in the Fairgrounds Coliseum before a capacity house of 8049.

The Scarlet and Gray cagers, all sophomores, appeared ready and willing but lacked the finesse, know-how or savvy—call it what you will—that was so pronounced in the ranks of the Sooners, who are preparing to launch the defense of the Big Six championship.

JOHNSTON CAGES 15

The Oklahomans were glue-fingered when it came to holding onto the ball and they also didn't like to take any foolish shots. Enjoying an 11-point lead with six minutes to go, the Sooners went into the business of freezing the ball. Thereafter, the Ohio State cause was a hopeless one, although the Bucks did manage to reduce the deficit to nine points by the game's close.

Paul Courty, Oklahoma's left-handed forward, lived up to advance notices, leading both clubs in scoring with 16 points. The opposing centers—Neil Johnston of Ohio State and Bill Waters—each manufactured 15.

Other Ohio State players who looked good, even in defeat, included Bob Winter, substitute forward, and Gene Brown.

SHOOTING AVERAGE HIGH

Both teams were hitting the rim with amazing accuracy at the start and when the half ended with Oklahoma holding a one-point lead, Ohio State had scored on 11 out of 36 chances while the visitors made 13 of 39.

For the entire game, Oklahoma dropped in 25 out of 70; Ohio State 22 out of 79. Each team had 18 opportunities from the free throw line—the Sooners scoring 12 points via this channel and the Bucks nine.

The Ohio Staters started off with a 4-0 lead only to see Waters score three straight. Once in front, the Sooners lengthened their advantage to six points. It was here that the Bucks made their best showing of the evening, shooting into a 25-19 lead. Shortly before the half ended, the Sooners sliced the Ohio State margin to 29-29 and the trouble some Mr. Waters came through with a two-pointer that gave his team a 30-29 edge as the two teams retired to the dressing quarters for the intermission.

LEAD THROUGHOUT HALF

The Sooners were on top throughout the second half, gradually increasing their lead, although the Bucks always seemed to be in the running—until the Oklahomans began their front-court stalling tactics.

Berce of Marquette Collects 32 Points

MILWAUKEE, WIS., Dec. 13.—Tippy Dye's Ohio State basketball team, flashing offensive power when the pressure was really on, turned in their first win of the year tonight as they trimmed Marquette University, 83 to 70, before a packed Hilltop gymnasium.

The high-scoring melee was featured by two brilliant offensive stars, Forward Gene Berce of Marquette who poured in 32 points, and Center Neil Johnston of Ohio State who contributed a handsome 29.

At times hard-pressed, the Buckeyes staged a home stretch drive that enabled them to win going away after Marquette had narrowed the count to 67-64 with only three minutes remaining.

Donham Gets 17

Johnston wasn't the whole show for Ohio State, however, Forward Dick Schnittker, came through for 23 points, and Forward Bob Donham added 17.

The teams fought to a 35-35 tie in a red-hot first half, which found Marquette going to an early 6-2 lead only to have Ohio State bounce to the front, 7-6.

Lead Changes Hands

Then the Buckeyes, with Johnston as spark plug, assumed a 21-13 edge only to have the Hilltoppers, with Berce on fire, snapping back to the front, 32 to 25.

Dick Schnittker caught the spirit in the first half stretch and was the big gun as the Bucks closed in and fought to a 35-35 intermission tie.

Johnston was the big gun as OSU took a 43-35 lead as the second half got under way and the Bucks never again fell behind.

BUCKEYES WIN, 83-70

MILWAUKEE, WIS., DEC. 13.—In the most furious scoring duel ever seen here, Ohio State warmed up for the Big Nine by trimming Marquette tonight, 83-70.

It was one of the few times in narrow count.

Marquette, with Berce still starting kept the pressure on until the last two minutes, narrowing the count to 46-45 at one stage, 59-56 at another and, finally, 67-64, before State put on its winning rush.

Ohio State had a high shooting average of 43 per cent while Marquette's average was 30 per cent. The victory gave the Buckeyes a 1-1 record for the season.

years the Hilltoppers lost on their own floor and it was no fault of Gene Berce. The little forward rolled in 32 points on 12 field goals and eight free throws. Berce missed seven gift tosses.

Neil Johnston, gangling center, paced the Buckeyes with 29 tallies, followed by Dick Schnittker's 23. Ohio netted 23 baskets and Marquette 26, a record for the floor.

Points were almost for the asking in one of the most spectacular first halves on record here and it was probably just plain justice that it ended at 35-35 all.

Berce, all-time point scoring champion for the school, gave the Buckeyes a fit as he weaved in and out of a tight defense under the beard and hammered home 19 points on eight field goals and three free throws.

Johnston had 11 points and Donham 10 at the half. Two buckets by Berce and another by Ove gave MU an early two-point margin, but then the Bucks began hitting from the close and far and soon led 16-11.

With seven minutes left in the initial period, Sullivan sank a long one to bring the Hilltoppers up all even at 23-all and two quickies by Ove and Berce ran the local edge to 27-23. The Bucks squared around just before the gun or Schnittker's long bucket.

In just a bit over the first minute of the last half the Bucks clicked for four field goals Schnittker and Johnson two each on sleepers. M. Peterson and Saucedo connected for Marquette and Ohio's lead was cut to 43-39.

Marquette spotted 43-45 and then the Scarlet set sail again and in a moment had another four points margin.

The Bucks had a 50-52 edge or Hudson's shot as they headed into the last 10 minutes. Saucedo and Berce promptly cut the difference down on a bucket each.

Ohio built up another fair lead saw it cut to 67-64, and then made it 73-65 with three minutes to play.

By PAUL HORNUNG

Ohio State's basket-happy Bucks slipped off the gold standard, i. e., their point-a-minute pace, Saturday night, but managed to manufacture their second straight victory, a 54-40 effort over Marty Karow's Texas Aggies.

The long-geared Texans treated the Coliseum crowd of 5926 to a dazzling exhibition of ball-handling and floor work, but a miserable effort in accuracy in their fourth decision in eight starts.

Karow's Aggies, beaten Friday night by Baldwin-Wallace, 81-64, attempted 93 field goals and made a puny total of 17, a .18 per cent average.

Ohio State, on the other hand, was death close to the basket—possibly because they got a few more than normal chances at rebounds—and dunked 22 baskets out of 79 efforts, a highly respectable average of .279.

Taking over with a 23-19 lead at halftime, the Bucks rushed right on through to victory without a really serious threat.

At one juncture, with 11:52 of the last round to be played, the Aggies crept up to within four points, at 32-36, but Dick Hudson, sub forward, dropped in one of the few long shots of the evening and Reserve Center Bob Raidiger followed with a drive-in two-pointer to put the lead safely away.

In the last three and a half minutes, Coach Tippy Dye's aggressive five pitched in with 10 points while holding the visiting cow country kids scoreless.

Bob Kamperman chimed in with a shortie and Gordon Moore let fly with successful toss from near the foul circle in the last half-minute to add four to the losing cause.

Garcia Rates Cheers

Rebound work by Dick Schnittker, Raidiger, and Neil Johnston played a very important part in the victory, with Schnittker taking scoring honors at 13 and Johnston second at 11. Starting Guard Bill Batey led the Aggies with 12, but he attempted 27 shots, too, to make his five field goals.

Mike Garcia, a stringbean substitute guard, left the floor in the closing minutes to a tremendous ovation from the Buckeye crowd. Entering the game midway in the opening half, the Aggie flashed some of the niftiest passing and faking the coliseum has seen in a long time.

BUCKSHOT—Jack Underman, all-Big Nine center two years ago and second team all-Big Nine for the Bucks last year, attended his first game in his wheel chair. . . His left leg is still in a cast. . . If you don't recall Jack—who played his prep basketball at West—had both legs broken last summer when struck by an auto. . . The biggest laugh of the evening—it stopped the show, if not the game—came during the first half when a black cat dashed out on the floor and promptly skidded ungracefully on its back across the polished court. . . After several false starts, during which its non-skid treads failed to function, the feline managed to escape through the crowd, amid great cheers and laughter.

Saturday night's 54 points brought the Bucks three-game scoring total to 190 for 180 minutes of play. . . The Bucks' record now stands at 2-1 exactly the reverse of last year at this stage of the season. . . Not a man left on personal fouls although it was a furious and at times rough game. Coach Marty Karow, Texas Aggie coach, had a great time after the game greeting many of his Columbus friends. . . he played fullback for the Scarlet in the mid-20's.

Far Coast Five Wins 61-55 Tilt

Same Teams Meet Tonight; Nichols, Johnston Sparkle

By CLARENCE YOUNG,
State Journal Sports Writer

Those Washington Huskies outlasted Ohio State's basketball team in a 61-55 decision over the Bucks in the Fairgrounds Coliseum before a crowd of 4533 last night.

After 30 minutes of play, the score was tied at 45-45. Two more minutes elapsed with no additional point-making and then Bob Bird of the Huskies stole the ball from Bob Burkholder, Ohio State guard. Bird then dribbled half the length of the floor for a lay-up fielder, giving the visitors an advantage that they never relinquished the rest of the way.

TOUR ENDS TONIGHT

The victory gave the Huskies a 2-2 record on their current tour of Big Nine precincts, the Seattle team having broken even in two games at Minnesota and dropped one at Purdue. Tonight, the Washingtonians wind up the journey by meeting Ohio State again on the Coliseum boards with tip-off time 8 p. m.

It will be the final warm-up game

for the Bucks, who now also sport a 2-2 record, as they plunge into the Western Conference wars against Northwestern here Jan. 3.

For a while last night, it appeared as though the Bucks were en route to their third straight triumph, the first half action being slightly Scarlet and Gray. Dick Schnittker—who was "Dead Eye Dick" during that first half—dropped in a bunny after the game was only 20 seconds old. Sam White of the Huskies fouled Schnittker and almost as quickly as it takes to tell it Ohio State was off to a 3-0 lead.

BUCKS LEAD AT HALF

Washington, paced by Jim Nichols, Bill Taylor and White, soon began clicking and was rewarded at various stages with leads of 7-3 and 15-10. Schnittker, Neil Johnston and Co. started hitting again, and on one occasion was on top, 26-17.

As the two teams went to their dressing rooms at half-time, Ohio enjoyed a 30-25 margin. Resumption of play, however, was a signal for the Huskies to whittle down the deficit. The invaders tied the score at 38-38 and then forged ahead. Ohio State was never in front after that, although the Bucks did knot the count at 45-45, as previously chronicled.

Fifty-three of the visitors' points were scored by four players—Nichols, with 15; White and Taylor, with 14 each, and Bob Jorgensen, with 10. Johnston scored 15 for Ohio, to share point honors with Nichols, his rival at the pivot position. The peppery Ted Jacobs, in the role of a substitute forward, racked up 14 and may have earned himself a starting assignment tonight.

Gene Brown, Ohio State guard, scorched the nets with four of his left-handed push shots.

NICHOLS HUSKIES' STAR

The six-foot-six Nichols definitely wasn't counterfeit. He proved himself an invaluable cog in the Washington machine although he committed four fouls in the first half. He finally went to the bench via the five foul ruling with 52 seconds remaining.

Schnittker's first-half shooting was nothing short of phenomenal. He scored 10 of the Bucks' first 16 points and finished the half with a total of 12. Out of six field goal attempts, he dropped in five. It was a different tale in the second half, though, and Schnittker went scoreless, getting only three shots.

Washington's second-half spree is reflected in the fact that the Huskies scored on 15 out of 38 field goal tries during the last 20 minutes. In the first half, they made 10 out of 51. Ohio State found the range on 21 out of 78 attempts for the entire game.

Trail Four Points; 28-24, At the Half

Ohio Outlasts Visitors, 64-60

By KAYE KESSLER

Staging a wild second half comeback, Ohio State's Buckeyes outlasted Northwestern, 64-60 in the Western Conference opener for both teams at the Coliseum Saturday night.

The rapidly improving "sophomore" Buckeyes bid for their second Big Nine victory Monday night when they play host to Iowa's Hawkeyes at 8 o'clock in the Coliseum.

Trailing 28-24 after a slow first half, the Bucks came roaring back after the intermission to knot the score at 36-36 after seven and a half minutes of play.

Changes Hands Often

From that point until Center Neil Johnston dropped in a "bunny" shot to put the Bucks in front, 61-59, with two minutes to play the lead changed hands 13 times.

Chet Strumillo, sub Northwestern guard, hit a free throw to pull the Wildcats within a point of the Bucks but with the crowd yelling "don't shoot" little Dick Hudson of Ashville, stripped the nets with a long shot to ice the game for the Bucks. Guard Gene Brown's charity toss with 18 seconds remaining gave the Bucks the four-point margin.

The crowd of 4752 watched the game switch from a rough and tumble first half exhibition that more closely resembled a football game into a fast breaking race-horse game with a scoring duel developing between the Bucks' Dick Schnittker and the Wildcats' Bill Sticklen. Schnittker, who could hit for only two goals in the first half, counted six goals in 11 shots the second half and added four free throws for 20 points.

Sticklen Hits Often

Sticklen, a six-foot, one-inch Northwestern sophomore who was ruled ineligible last season, hit seven of 11 shots in the second half, all but one from the back court to total 23 points for the evening's high.

The win was No. 4 for Coach Tippy Dye's Buckeyes in six games. The defeat was the fifth suffered by the Wildcats in six games.

Hit Foul Shots

Northwestern's Wildcats cashed in from the free throw line to gain a 28-24 first half advantage on Ohio State.

The Purple dribblers managed to throw the ball away, clown up and down the court and fall all over themselves just as well as the Buckeyes but they cashed in on eight of 11 charity tosses. The best the Bucks could do was six of 14.

Northwestern built up a 19-13 advantage in the first 16 minutes with little action other than personal fouls being called.

Maddock Stars

George Maddock, six-foot-five-inch center hit the loop for 12 points to pace the Wildcats' first half surge with Forward Bill Sticklen adding eight.

Both teams broke loose with a bevy of baskets with four minutes of the half remaining as the game took on a race-horse air.

Bob Raidiger, sub-center, came alive for eight of his points in the last three minutes of the first half to pull the Bucks within four points of the Wildcats.

Scarlet's Big Rally Falls Shy

36-to-18 Deficit
Proves Too Great
For Home Forces

By CLARENCE YOUNG,
State Journal Sports Writer

Time, like a streetcar, waits for no basketball team. Ohio State learned last night as the Bucks dropped a 49-41 decision to Iowa in a rough game on the Fairgrounds Coliseum boards.

It was the seventh straight victory for the Hawkeyes, who came through their six tune-up engagements unscathed and who were opening their Western Conference drive.

The setback gave the Bucks a 1-1 record in the Big Nine and an overall accounting of 4-3 for the season.

HAWKS AWAY FAST

Iowa completely dominated the action in the first half but Ohio State snapped out of it after the mid-way intermission and all but stole the show with its aggressive, heads-up play.

Murray Wier, Iowa star and probably the smallest five-foot-10 (as listed) player ever to appear in the Coliseum, walked off with top point honors for the evening with a total of 17 markers. Wier scored 12 points in the first half but thereafter found the going tough, due mainly to the efforts of Dick Hudson, Ohio State substitute guard.

Wier, fast and elusive, is a genuine ballhawk with a peculiar style. His pet shot is a one-handed push endeavor from the extreme corner and he also seemed to have an annoying habit of being able to hurl his knees and legs in front of him when he lets go with a shot. In the second half, many of the 5262 fans in the audience "cheered" loudly every time he got his hands on the ball.

Leonard Metcalfe performed well at center for the Hawks until he became a victim of the five foul rule with six minutes remaining.

As usual, "Dead Eye" Dick Schnittker paced Ohio State's offense with 14 points.

LEAD IS SHORT-LIVED

If you're interested in details, Ohio State enjoyed the lead for exactly 50 seconds. After only 10 seconds had been played, Wier fouled Schnittker and Dick made good on the charity throw. Fifty seconds later, Jack Spencer found the range for the Hawks. Then Neil Johnston tied it up at 2-2 before Metcalfe's fielder put Iowa in front to stay.

Indeed, the Hawkeyes, spear-headed by the "knee action" of Mr. Wier, gradually stretched their advantage until at half-time the score-board read: Iowa, 36; Ohio State, 18. The Tall Corn cagers apparently were en route to an easy victory.

In fact, Ohio State didn't score a field goal until almost seven minutes had elapsed. Johnston finally getting one to cut the Bucks' deficit to 4-10. The widest margin enjoyed by the Hawks at any time was 18 points—at 30-12, 32-14, 34-16 and 36-18.

Ohio State's performance in the first half on occasions bordered on the lethargic. In one instance, the Bucks stood around hoping for the ball to go out of bounds. An Iowa player charged in, grabbed the sphere and passed to Teammate Bob Schulz—bingo, two points!

BUCKS DO ABOUT-FACE

In the second half, the Bucks did a complete about-face and if they succeeded in doing nothing else they scared the daylights out of the visiting Hawks, who were only too anxious to freeze the ball in the front court with six minutes yet to go.

go. At that time, the Iowans led, 46-36.

The Hawks were held pointless for the first five minutes of the second half as Ohio slashed the visitors' lead to 36-25. Fully nine minutes of the second half were gone before the Hawkeyes scored a fielder.

However, as hard as the Bucks fought, the 18-point half-time deficit proved too great a liability to erase, time eventually expiring.

It was quite an evening for "bad nights." The officials—Orwig and Dickerson—had them, the announcer, Leo Staley, had one and so did the Ohio State team in the first 20 minutes, not to mention Iowa's in the second half. The fans, who got such a bang out of the booing, the officials and sarcastically cheering for the clever, speedy Wier, were in good voice.

PICTURE PLAY

Picture play of the game was maneuvered by Bob Donham, who intercepted a pass thrown by Spencer and dribbled unopposed half the length of the floor for a basket.

The Hawks took only 22 shots in the second half—and sank but three of these. In the first half, they made 15 out of 45. Ohio State dropped in 17 of 73 for the entire game.

Iowa had the better percentage from the free throw stripe. The Hawkeyes converted 13 out of 22 while the Bucks capitalized on only seven of 14.

The Bucks take to the road next week-end, meeting Illinois at Champaign Saturday and Indiana at Bloomington Monday. Next home game is with Pittsburgh, Jan. 17.

Hold Off Late Buck Rally in Hectic Battle

By BERT BERTINE

Although never behind after the first minute of the game, Illinois' hot-and-cold cagers had to hang on 'til the final klaxon to achieve a 61-58 victory Saturday night in Huff gym against a sophomore but determined Ohio State quintet.

More than 6,900 fans sat quietly through 30 minutes of play until the battling Buckeyes brought them out of their seats by staging a rally that all but overcame Harry Combes' lads. It was Illinois' second Big Nine verdict in three starts, Ohio's second loss in three.

Illinois held various comfortable margins throughout the contest, just as it did against Northwestern, but as was the case in both games, couldn't stand prosperity. Consequently with only three minutes to go the driving visitors were rapping loudly on the door when Neil Johnson, awkward appearing but fine shooting center, dropped his fifth field goal to make the score 58-57.

The Illini stalled out the game, sinking three free throws to Ohio's one, to bring the count to its final status. During the final seven minutes of the game Illinois failed to tally a field goal, depending on seven successful free throws for its scoring.

OX OSTERKORN achieved his high total of the season by racking 17 points to pace all scorers although he passed up more opportunity by missing seven of 12 free throws. Illinois was something less than impressive from the free throw line, making 13 of 30 shots, else it might not have had to fight to the last breath to insure victory.

Osterkorn's chief aide was Dike Eddleman who slipped in six baskets and two free throws for 14. The bulk of Buckeye scoring was provided by three men — Johnston with 15, Dick Schnittker with 14 and Bob Winter with 10.

The game furnished a great debut vehicle for Jim Marks, the junior guard from Edwardsville, who opened in Stan Fronczak's spot by dunking three of his first four shots. Jim later added another for an eight-point total, the same accomplished by Capt. Jack Burmaster.

Marks fouled out after nine minutes of the second half but by then had played a sparkling all-around game which will warrant him plenty of action in Illinois' nine remaining conference games.

FACED BY Marks, Osterkorn and Eddleman, the Illini, after being behind at 2-0 on Schnittker's opening goal, rolled smoothly to an 11-4 margin after five minutes. Schnittker and Bob Raidiger stemmed the tide momentarily but after 15 minutes the Illini appeared to be pulling away rapidly, assuming the battle's largest edge at that point, 28-15. Johnston's shooting narrowed it to 34-26 at the half.

Illinois hit two dead spells in the second half which nearly proved disastrous. The first came from the two-minute to the nine-minute mark. During this seven minutes Illinois' only bucket was a rebound by Osterkorn. Meanwhile, Ohio State was driving hard and a set shot by Winter made it 43-39. Ox and Dike went to work and pushed the score difference up to 50-42, and a little later the second of Burdette Thurlby's two goals made it 54-45 with seven minutes left in the game.

But then came the second seven-minute blanking during which nary an Illini shot found the hoops although Ohio's heavy fouling had something to do with this. Ohio kept pushing and Ted Jacobs and Johnston kept pecking away, both from the field and free throw line, to keep a final decision from being arrived at until the tilt ended. During the final hectic minute Fred Green subbed for Osterkorn at center and such was the nature of play that he had four fouls in his five minutes of action.

ALTOGETHER, there were 53 fouls whistled with the Illini getting the major share with 29 and losing one man, Marks. Ohio lost its leading scorer (of the season), Schnittker, via the same route a few minutes from the end.

From here the Buckeyes go to Bloomington to meet Indiana Monday, but Illinois does not again get into action until Saturday when it will go on its second conference trip to face Minnesota in Minneapolis.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 13—Branch McCracken's Columbus "cousins" were in town last night and today his Indiana University basketball team has its first Big Nine victory of the season. The Hoosiers ran over the Ohio State five, which had held Illinois to a 61-58 decision at Champaign two nights before, 71-54, to give Branch his 11th coaching triumph in 13 games against the Buckeyes.

It was high time someone turned up who could be induced to play the round-ball game the way the Hoosiers like to play it. Indiana had lost its first two conference contests and faced the possibility of losing four straight games for the first time under McCracken's coaching. Since defeating Notre Dame on the first night of the Hoosier Classic in Indianapolis, the Crimson had lost to Butler, Purdue and Wisconsin.

The Merry Macs bounded down the court for 57 shots in the first half and hit 14 of them while the Buckeyes were netting 9 of 44. Each team had added eight free throws, so the score was 36-26. By this time the Bucks were running and shooting, too, and getting mighty tired.

Errors Galore

In the second half the number of shots attempted was exactly reversed, but Indiana connected on 12 of its 44 and Ohio hit only 11 of its 57. The reckless character of the game is indicated by the errors total, the Buckeyes losing the ball without getting a shot 23 times and the Hoosiers 24. In the first half each team grabbed 29 rebounds, but in the second the weary Ohioans could nab only 18 while the Hoosiers were getting 34.

Indiana's reserve strength helped in the battle of attrition, and, as all tired teams do, the Buckeyes fouled more and more. The Hoosiers put through 11 more free throws to run their score to the highest total amassed by an Indiana team in the 59 games, which have been played between these schools, of which the Hoosiers have won 33.

All but one of the 12 men McCracken put into the game put figures behind his name in the scoring columns. Don Ritter was again the high man with 5 field goals in 22 attempts and 4 single-pointers in 5 throws. He topped Charley Meyer by only a point, however. The big center hit 6 of 12 from the floor and converted one of his two charity chances. From the field Bob Armstrong, 2 of 8; Tom Schwartz, 1 of 10; Lou Watson, 4 of 16; Jerry Stuteville, 4 of 9; Gene Farris, 1 of 5, and Bob Lollar, 2 of 5.

All but one of Ohio's 12 players also scored. Bob Winter was high with 11 points, making 5 fielders in 15 tries. Dick Schnittker hit 3 of 7; Ted Jacobs, 1 of 11; Bob Donham, 0 of 6; Neil Johnston, 4 of 18; Bob Raidiger, 1 of 16; Gene Brown, 1 of 8; Dick Hudson, 0 of 8, and Bob Burkholder, 3 of 7.

Hoosiers In Initial Big 9 Win

They Lead 36-26, At Half and End Losing Streak

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Jan. 12—(AP)—Indiana University won its first Big Nine basketball victory of the season tonight and inflicted Ohio State's third defeat in four conference starts, 71 to 54. The Hoosiers held a 36-26 lead at the half as they ended a three-game losing streak that included two Big Nine contests.

Forty-seven personal fouls were called in the ragged game, benching two players from each team. Don Ritter, Indiana's high-scoring junior forward, led the Hoosier point-getting with 14 points. Center Charles Meyer added 13 and Guard Jerry Stuteville contributed 12. Forward Bob Winter and Neil Johnston, 6-foot, 6-inch center, topped Ohio State scoring with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

The lead changed five times in the first 10 minutes before Ritter hit two quick baskets to start a Hoosier drive that produced Indiana's 10-point lead at the intermission.

Ohio State never threatened in the second half and Indiana once had a 24-point advantage at 63 to 29. The I. U. Reserves took over midway in the period.

Each team took 96 shots from the field, but Indiana hit 26 to the Buckeye's 20. Both were erratic at the free throw line, Indiana converting 19 of 31 attempts and Ohio State making good 14 of 23.

Ohio State Cagers Hand Pittsburgh A 74 to 56 Lacing

Buck Basketeers Snap Losing Streak;
Pittsburgh Winning Streak Ends

By KAYE KESSLER

Ohio State's cagers did just about as they pleased with Pittsburgh as they downed the Panthers 74-56 before 4176 in the Coliseum Saturday night.

The victory snapped a three game Buckeye losing streak to level their season record at five wins and five defeats and put an end to Pitt's five game victory string.

After Coach Tippy Dye's dribblers moved into a commanding 29-16 lead early in the first half it was just a question of how much the officials' whistles and the slow, deliberate and dull Pitt brand of ball would slow the game.

Schnittker Gets 22

Flashy Dick Schnittker was the fair-haired boy for the Bucks as he threaded the nets for 22 points on nine field goals and four free throws.

From the time Schnittker hit for his first goal to give the Bucks a 12-9 lead after seven and a half minutes the Bucks couldn't be stopped. The tall Sandusky sophomore canned all his points in 22 minutes and left the game with eight minutes remaining.

Schnittker took but 12 shots at the bucket for his nine goals.

Gangling Bob Raidiger took a long stride in his battle for starting center berth hitting for 19 points.

Dr. H. C. Carlson's offenseless Panthers paraded all over the court in valiant effort to break the stiff Buckeye man-for-man-defense.

Seven Fielders

Dodo Canterna and Sammy David were about all the Panthers had to put up against the rangier Bucks.

The six-foot Canterna constantly drove into the bucket, counted seven field goals and drew 10 personal fouls. He made good on seven free throws to trail Schnittker for scoring honors with 21 markers. David's 16 points gave this duet 37 of the Panther's points.

A total of 46 personal fouls were called, 24 on Pitt and 22 on the Bucks. Panthers Bill Cieply and Lou Ceconni left the game via the foul route while the Bucks kept their record intact. Having yet to loose a man on fouls in 10 games this season.

Hits Stride

Footballer Lou Ceconni's lay-up shot drew Pitt within a point of the Bucks at 11-12 after eight minutes and then the Bucks hit their stride.

With Dick Schnittker and Bob Raidiger leading the way the Bucks moved their margin to 29-16 shortly before the end of the half.

Schnittker hit for nine points in the first period with Raidiger adding eight.

The Bucks hit 11 of 39 shots the first half while holding the Panthers to four of 30 efforts. Forward Dodo Canterna hit six of 10 attempted fouls in the first half and added two field goals to pace Panther scoring with 10 points.

In the preliminary game the Buck Jayvees romped to an easy 60-17 win over the Berea Nite College of Mt. Gilead with Forward Charles Worthley's 12 points setting the pace.

PURDUE CATCHES BUCKS

LAFAYETTE, IND., JAN. 24—Purdue's fire brand cagers roared back in the second half with a 43-point spree to trounce Ohio State, 69-64, in a hair raising battle before 9100 fans here Saturday night. It was the Buckeyes fourth straight Big Nine loss after opening the season with a victory over Northwestern.

The Bucks held a 32-26 half time lead, but the Boilermakers sifted through the Ohio defense consistently at the start of the second half to take a lead which they never relinquished.

Dick Schnittker made a valiant fight to keep the Bucks in the ball game by tallying 21 points, which hiked his conference scoring to 78 points in five games. The aggressive drive-in artist potted 11 points in the first half and led a second half drive that brought the Bucks from a 66-47 deficit to a five-point margin at the end of the game.

Lanky Bill Butterfield sparked the irrepressible Purdue second half spurt, but he was aided considerably by Sophomore Dick Axness, who contributed 13 points to the Boilermaker cause. Altogether four Boilermakers made 10 points or better.

Purdue started fast and ran up a 14-9 lead before the Buckeyes came to life. With 12 minutes gone, Tippy Dye's cagers accumulated 11 straight points while holding Purdue scoreless to take a 27-18 lead.

Then, with the Purdue fans pleading for their boys to get hot, they annexed six points in 40 seconds on Buckets by Axness, Butterfield and Williams.

Purdue, a great second half team, amassed seven points at the start of the last half to take a 33-32 lead. Bob Raidiger's pivot shot regained the upper hand momentarily for the Buckeyes. That was the last time they were ahead in the ball game.

The Boilermakers, who were a hot in the second half as cold in the first, then began hitting from all angles and jumped their advantage to 60-40 in the short span of eight minutes. With five minutes left and a 66-47 margin Purdue's Coach Mel Taube inserted his subs and Schnittker piled up seven quick points to whittle the Boilermaker lead. Time ran out before the Buckeyes could catch the Riveters.

Purdue hit 29 of 94 shots for a .348 shot percentage while the Buckeyes connected on 25 of 81 tries for a .308 average. Good foul shooting helped keep the Ohioans in the game. They cashed in on 14 of 20 tries.

Butler '5' Throttles Schnittker

Invaders Display
Accurate Eye for Goals From Floor

By CLARENCE YOUNG,
State Journal Sports Writer

Offsetting a definite disadvantage in height with amazing shooting accuracy, swift-and-sure passes and sheer speed, Butler's scrappy Bulldogs bit Ohio State, 57 to 47, under the leaky roof of the Fairgrounds Coliseum last night before a crowd of 2236.

The setback sent the Buck percentage for the season skidding to .417 on the strength of five victories and seven defeats. It was the eighth triumph in 11 starts for the Bulldogs, who tonight meet the University of Cincinnati at the Queen City.

HIT 25 OUT OF 63

The manner in which Butler controlled the ball off the bankboards was next to unbelievable, in view of Ohio's margin in the altitude department. And, once in possession of the ball, the Bulldogs knew what to do with it.

The Butler cagers had their eye for the basket along with them for they dropped in 25 out of 63 chances from the floor, including 10 out of 23 in the second half. Ohio State found the range on 19 of 71 opportunities.

A combination of an "off" night—long over-due—and close guarding, particularly on the part of Jim Doyle, was responsible for the fact that Dick Schnittker, Ohio State scoring ace, garnered only five points—two baskets and a free throw. Schnittker had 14 shots but was hurried on most of them.

DONHAM CAGES 19

Ironically, it was a Hoosier, Bob Donham, who played the best ball for the Bucks. Donham scored 19 points, including eight baskets on 17 field goal opportunities. He was the evening's high scorer.

For the Indianapolis team, Ralph O'Brien, midget forward, manufactured 16 points while Doyle found time to tally 15.

Only 20 personal fouls were called. From the free throw line, Butler converted seven of nine while Ohio State made nine out of 15.

In the final analysis, the game was settled in the opening half, when the Bulldogs went on a 10-point scoring spree over a four-minute span to enlarge their lead from 16-13 to 26-13. After that, the closest Ohio approached was nine points, at 27-18 and 56-47.

JAY VEES LOSE, TOO

Ohio State enjoyed one point leads at four stages, 1-0, 3-2, 7-6 and 9-8, but otherwise the visitors enjoyed the upper hand. Butler's widest lead was 17 points, at 50-33.

Butler made good on three of its first four chances from the floor and, at the start of the second half, hit on eight of its first 15.

The Bucks played the opening 13 minutes without a personal foul.

In the junior varsity preliminary, Butler handed Ohio State its first reversal of the season, 49-47. It was a "sudden death" overtime. A basket by Dee Baker won for the "Pups" after Chuck Worthley's fielder with three seconds to go tied it up at 47-47 and forced the game into the extra session. Last year, the Butler junior varsity was the only team to turn back Ohio State.

70-66 Win Registered By Scarlet

Donham Leader With 19 Points In Upset Triumph

By CLARENCE YOUNG,
State Journal Sports Writer

Turning in their best performance of the season, Ohio State's basketball team pulled a 70-66 upset over Michigan out of the fire last night before 3997 pleasantly-surprised spectators.

The outcome was particularly pleasing to Ohio State partisans since it knocked the Wolverines out of first place in the Western Conference race, Wisconsin regaining the lead.

In fact, the setback sent the Wolverines reeling into a tie for fourth place with Purdue. Ohio State jumped into a seventh spot deadlock with Indiana, as the upset coupled with Iowa's overtime victory over Northwestern relegated the Wildcats to the basement.

BUCKS DOMINATE PLAY

Ohio State dominated the play most of the way and a casual observer would have thought that the Scarlet was the team battling to retain the top position. At one stage of the second half, the Bucks enjoyed a 16-point lead, 60-34, and it appeared as though the game would develop into a rout.

The Wolverines, however, rallied twice, once approaching within four points of the Bucks, at 57-53, and later, with two minutes remaining, coming within one point of knotting the count, at 67-66. Ohio State's last four points—the margin of victory—were manufactured via free throws by Bob Raidiger and Bob Burkholder and a fielder by Bob Donham.

This free-scoring contest could almost be called a battle of the guards and, although Michigan's Bob Harrison and Pete Elliott out-tallied Ohio State's Burkholder and Gene Brown, 37 to 27, the offensive fireworks of Burkholder and Brown were more unexpected and doubtlessly figured in the Bucks' improved appearance.

15 FOR BURKHOLDER

Burkholder, who suffered a sprained ankle in practice Saturday and who was recently benched mainly because of his inability to score, contributed 15 points, including five first-half baskets. Brown dropped in six fielders with four of them coming in the second half.

Donham was Ohio's high scorer with 19 points but both Dick Schnittker, despite a recent attack of "flu," and Raidiger also played prominent roles in the Bucks' surprise party.

Top point-getter for the evening was the cool and collected Harrison with 20 markers. The football-playing Elliott caged 17 points.

Although Ohio State was the first to score, as Dick Hudson drove in for a lay-up shot, and Brown came right back with the first of his two-play contributions, Michigan's offense soon began clicking and after six and a half minutes of firing, the Wolverines managed to obtain the lead, 12-10, on Mac Suprunowicz's basket.

Michigan lengthened this margin to 18-12 but Ohio State bounced right back and, with Burkholder and Donham leading the way, had amassed a 36-27 bulge at halftime. M's last lead was 23-21.

WOLVERINES RALLY TWICE

The early minutes of the second half were all Ohio State but Michigan stubbornly refused to admit defeat, although after the Wolverines' first rally bogged down the Bucks shot away to an eight-point margin.

Ohio State attempted to freeze the ball in the front court with three minutes remaining and the Bucks in front, 67-62. But the Dye-men were none too successful at this task. Raidiger fouled Harrison with 2:36 to go and the Toledo boy stepped to the charity stripe and promptly dropped two through the draperies. Harrison then added a fielder to put the Wolverines only one point in arrears.

With a minute and 51 seconds to go, Harrison fouled Donham but the usually-accurate Buck forward missed and there was considerable fingernail biting among the Ohio State rooters as the home forces' lead of 67-66 looked mighty, mighty slender.

BUCKS WAIVE TWO FOULS

Suprunowicz then was guilty of fouling Burkholder and the little guard capitalized on the opportunity to put the Bucks two important points in front. This was at the 50 second mark. Suprunowicz committed another foul with 18 seconds remaining but the Bucks elected to waive the free throw.

Six seconds were left when Harrison was guilty of his fifth personal and Ohio again took the ball out of bounds. Donham slipped under the Scarlet basket for a lay-up shot just as the final gun barked.

Actually, Ohio State's advantage was from the free throw line for each team found the range 28 times from the floor. The Bucks made 14 out of 20 charity tries while the Wolverines missed only one, getting 10 out of 11. Ohio State attempted 67 field goals and Michigan 91.

YERGES SEES GAME

One spectator well pleased with the result, Yerges, the former quarter-backed the team gridders through their recent perfect season and to an easy conquest in the Rose Bowl.

The Ohio State Junior Varsity defeated the Michigan "Bees," 58 to 42, in the prelin that presaged the fate of the Wolverine varsity.

Next Saturday, the Bucks will play at Minnesota and Monday will find them at Northwestern. Illinois is the opponent in their next home game Saturday, Feb. 14.

Schnittker Gets 31, But Buckeyes Lose

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., FEB. 7.—Ohio State dropped a 68-55 Big Nine basketball decision to Minnesota's Gophers here Saturday night, but at least one Buckeye came out on the winning side.

He was Dick Schnittker, who won his personal duel with Minnesota's towering center, Jim McIntyre, by dropping through 31 points compared to the 27 the Gopher ace tallied.

Schnittker spun, hooked and twisted for 10 of the Buckeyes 16 baskets and then added 11 out of 14 free throw chances.

By half time Schnittker had tossed in 14 points to far outdistance McIntyre, the league's leading scorer, who could only hit for seven off the close guarding of Bob Raidiger and Neil Johnson.

However, McIntyre came to life in the second half and started hitting from all angles. The fact that Raidiger and Johnson had three fouls each at half time helped Mac shake loose some.

Schnittker was the only Ohio

State man to find the range though, as the second best man Johnson could only collect four from the field.

It was the almost unerring accuracy from gift line which kept the Buckeyes in the game. In all they collected 23 charity tosses out of 29 attempts. Minnesota took a 13-12 lead with 15 minutes left of the first half and were never behind the rest of the way, although the Bucks kept it close until midway through the last half when the Gophers started to pull away slowly but surely.

Schnittker was easily the outstanding man on the floor as he played the entire 40 minutes. In the last half, he suffered a minor cut over his left eye in a spill with Kernan under the basket, but a piece of tape was added and Dick kept up his good work.

Bucks Drop 68-55 Tilt To Gophers

Schnittker Outscores
McIntyre, 31-27

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., Feb. 7.

Dick Schnittker poured in 31 points here tonight for Ohio State, but Minnesota's Jim McIntyre retaliated with 27 to lead the Gophers to a 68-55 victory over the Buckeyes before 15,641 fans.

The Schnittker-McIntyre duel was virtually the whole show as both teams played round and ragged ball with some help from two off-icals who called 22 fouls on each team and missed quite a few more.

The six-foot four and one-half inch Buckeye forward kept the Bucks in the ball game most of the way with his driving floor play in addition to his 31 points on 10 field goals and 11 free throws. If any of the other Bucks could have lent any help at all it might have been a different story.

Johnston Gets Nine

But elongated Neil Johnston's four baskets and a lone gift toss for nine points was the best that could be mustered in support of the brilliant Schnittker.

Schnittker's snipping kept Ohio State within hailing distance until, with three minutes left to play and the score at 58-54, Substitute Buzz Wheeler hit from the side and Bill Appenzeller and Chet Tomczyk pitched in with free throws to send Minnesota out in front, 62-54.

Schnittker came back with a free throw, but the Gophers took advantage of the Buckeyes desperation ball-hawking to close out the night's scoring with three baskets, two by McIntyre and one by Ed Kernan.

Within 2 Points

The closest Ohio State could get to Minnesota in the second half came in the early stages of the period when the irrepressible Schnittker collected a bucket a a free toss to bring the count 30-28 and again at the eight minute mark when he drove for two quick fielders and a 36-score.

But Schnittker couldn't shoulder the load all by himself as the Gophers didn't have a trouble stopping the other Buck.

Minnesota lost its best rebounder, Forward Bud Grant, fouls with only five minutes go in the second half.

Ohio State didn't lose a minute until Bob Donham was whistled out at the five-minute mark.

Minnesota now has a record three wins against three losses while the defeat was Ohio State fifth against only two wins. McIntyre now has 155 points, while the Bucks one man gang increases his output to 121.

One in With 15
Seconds to Play

EVANSTON, Ill., Feb. 9.—(P)—Northwestern whipped Ohio State 47 to 45 tonight in a Big Nine basketball game when George Maddock, center, scored the winning basket for the Wildcats with 15 seconds to play.

SCHNITTKER CHECKED

Bill Sticklen pushed Northwestern to victory and into a tie with Ohio State for the conference cellar—each with 2-6 records—by flipping in 22 points. In the meantime, the Buckeyes' ace scorer, Dick Schnittker, was held to only one basket and a pair of free throws for four points, his poorest showing of the campaign.

Sticklen contributed 10 points in the first half to send the Wildcats into a 25-15 advantage after Ohio State hit only five baskets in 33 shots.

BUCKS TIE 'EM

Ted Jacobs and Bob Burkholder made two quick fielders apiece at the outset of the final period to help shave Northwestern's margin to 29-25. The same two aided by Bob Raidiger trimmed the lead further to 37-35 with six minutes remaining.

Gene Brown's two buckets and shots by Raidiger and Jacobs finally drove Ohio State into a 43-43 tie and Bob Donham's pivot shot sent the Buckeyes ahead 45-43 with 95 seconds remaining.

Sticklen then locked the count 45-45 and Maddock wheeled in the deciding basket.

Bucks Join Wildcats In Big 9 Cellar

Northwestern Nips
Ohio State, 47-45

Ohio State University's Buckeye dribblers were back in their own back yard Tuesday after a rather disastrous road trip that saw them suffer reversals to Northwestern and Minnesota. The Bucks' latest defeat came Monday night when they fell 47-45, to Northwestern in the lair of the Wildcats.

Last Saturday night the Scarlet and Gray courtsters suffered a 68-55 reversal at Minnesota.

on the road the Bucks are deadlocked with their conquering Wildcats in the Western Conference basement. It evened up the 13 games between the two fives as the Bucks were victorious in their previous engagement on the Coliseum boards.

Key to Northwestern's victory Monday night was the club's ability to bottle up high-scoring Dick Schnittker. The blond Sandusky courtster was held to four points—one bucket and a brace of charity flips—after having poured 31 markers through the nets against Minnesota Saturday night.

The Bucks excelled the 'cats in only one department—at the free-throw line and that was by a bare 7-5 margin. On fielders Northwestern dumped in 21 to 19 for the Ohioans.

Sticklen Gets 22

And while the Wildcats were bottling up the Buckeye scorers they were shaking loose Bill Sticklen for 22 points, leading individual for the evening. Sticklen amassed his score on shots from the floor and a pair of gift shots.

Individual honors for the Bucks went to substitute forward Ted Jacobs. He snared four field goals for eight points.

Despite the loss Ohio State made a remarkable comeback in the second half. At the intermission the Bucks retired to the dressing room trailing the Wildcats, 25-15.

Fight Back

After the rest period the Bucks fought back with vigor and with 15 seconds remaining in the game had the score knotted at 45-45. At that stage George Maddock, pivot man, dumped in the third fielder of the evening, gave his mates their margin in the evening.

Inability to hit in the first half was the Bucks' downfall. In the initial semester the Scarlet and Gray accounted for only five of 33 attempts from the field.

At the start of the last half Jacobs and Bob Burkholder wished the nets to bring the Bucks within firing range.

Ahead Once

Bob Raidiger found the net with a one-handed heave a few minutes later to put the Bucks within 10 points of the home team and Gene Brown netted two along with each by Raidiger and Jacobs the game was knotted at 43-43. Ted Donham put the Bucks ahead the only time during the evening, with a pivot shot but was short lived as Sticklen fouled the hoop to knot the score, setting the stage for Maddock's winning basket.

Bucks Rebound With 57 to 50 Win Over Illini

Ohio State Basketeers Snap Losing Streak at Coliseum

By KAYE KESSLER

Ohio State opened up a surprise second half spurt to bewilder Illinois, 57-50, before 4449 fans at the Coliseum Saturday night and move out of the Big Nine basement.

Completely disorganized by a first half spurt that put the Illini out front 23-22, the Bucks did a complete about face to race to their third win in nine Conference battles. The defeat was No. 5 for Illinois in nine games.

Dick Schnittker, Bob Raidiger and Bob Donham hit from all angles to move the scarlet cagers into a lead they never lost.

Schnittker Gets 22

Donham and Illinois' Dick Foley traded goals and Illinois still led, 25-24, but Schnittker's tip-in, and push and hook shots by Raidiger moved Tippy Dye's dribblers out front and it was evident the "Whizzes" were gone from the Illinois kids.

The individual scoring duel between Schnittker and the Illini's "Dike" Eddleman was all it was cooked up to be. And Schnittker proved the master, collecting 22 markers to 18 for the Illinois footballer.

Going into the game, both had accounted for 125 in eight conference games to rank third among Big Nine scorers.

Held to one goal in 11 shots the first half, the Bucks' blond "Dead-eye" Dick banged in six of 10 attempted shots in the second half. Eddleman went the other way. He hit five of 15 the first half and the same number the second.

But it was from the charity line that the Buckeyes and Schnittker came through. Ohio State canned 13 of 18 attempted charity tosses with Schnittker hitting eight of nine while the Illini were counting only six of 15.

Both Make 22

Both quintets cashed in 22 field goals, the Bucks making theirs on 65 shots and Illinois using 88.

The Scarlet and Gray Dribblers poured it on in the final period and moved ahead 44-31 and then 49-35 for the biggest lead of the game.

Basketball 1947-48 February 14

Illinois fought back gamely and moved within seven points at 53-46 with two and a half minutes remaining but the Bucks fought just as hard and hung on to their margin.

Slim Edge

A late spurt of good basketball gave Illinois a slim 23-22 margin over Ohio State at the end of the first half.

Both quintets managed to throw passes equally bad, fall over themselves in the same floundering fashion and generally covet carelessly up and down the court.

The Illini grabbed an early lead on Eddleman's long shot after a minute and 10 seconds but the Bucks settled down long enough to move into an eight point lead at 13-5 after 9:28.

Holiday Over

The holiday was over as Footballer Eddleman batted in a rebound, hit another long one and the Illini were off.

Schnittker hit on a rebound to keep the Bucks out front 19-15 but Eddleman's rebound and two lay-up shots by Jim Marks and another by Center Fred Green moved the visitors out front 23-19. Schnittker's free throw and a push shot by Gene Brown narrowed the Illinois margin to one point at the half.

Eddleman's five field goals and one foul set the Illini scoring pace that saw the visitors connect on 10 of 40 attempted from the field.

One goal and four fouls by Schnittker led the Bucks who hit eight of 35 attempted goals.

In a preliminary Ohio State's Jayvees defeated their own Freshmen, 56-44.

Schnittker Passes
Hull's Big 9 Mark

By KAYE KESSLER

Ohio State's "wrecking crew" played. Wisconsin's cagers off their feet to batter the Badgers, 53-47, before 5406 fans at the Coliseum Monday night and knock the defending champs out of first place in the Big Nine basketball race.

Dick Schnittker, the Buck's blond hot shot, hammered the hoop for 24 points. It brought his total in the conference this season to 171, beating Jimmy Hull's record by two points. And he came within two points of tying Hull's all-time single season Ohio State scoring record of 269 points. He almost single-handedly handed the visitors their third defeat in nine conference games.

The victory was the fourth in 10 Big Nine games for the Buckeyes and the 18 and 17 showings against all foes.

Coach "Tippy" Dye's dribblers were terrific in their role as "giant killers." They previously knocked Michigan out of the conference lead. The taller Wisconsin cagers held no awe for the Bucks and were completely disorganized before the end came.

Schnittker bobbed, weaved and double faked the Badgers batty as he hung up 10 goals and four charity tosses.

Cool, clever Bobby Donham had the visitors frantic with ball handling antics that tore Wisconsin's defense to shreds.

For a while, at the start of the second half, the Badgers looked like they would come back from their 25-15 first-half deficit. Bobby Cook, who counted 17 points, hit four out of five shots at the start of the last half and the Badger crept within two points of the Bucks at 33-31. They still hung on at 40-36 but then Schnittker caught 'em napping. "Dead-eye" Dick banged in four consecutive field goals and the Badgers had had it.

From the time the Bucks broke the 8-8 deadlock after eight minutes of the first half on Schnittker's pivot shot, the Scarlet Scourge never trailed.

From the field the Buckeyes hit 19 of 63 shots while the Badgers could manage but 18 out of 75. The Buck edge was even more cutting from the foul line where they hit 15 of 18 to 11 of 16 for Wisconsin.

Four in a Row

The victory marked the fourth consecutive win for Ohio State over the Badgers who haven't turned the trick since 1942.

It took the Buckeyes eight minutes to count their first field goal but when they found the range they forged to a commanding 10-point lead over Wisconsin, 25-15, at halftime.

The rangy Badgers moved into a 6-2 lead after the first five minutes of "feeling out" ball. Two fouls by Schnittker and Donham and two quick goals by Schnittker jumped the Bucks out front for the first time, 8-6.

Jim Moore hit a long shot to knot the count, and then the Scarlet cagers were off to the races.

Schnittker Elusive

Schnittker faked the visitors off their feet as he counted five field goals and three fouls in the opening half. Slow moving Bobby Donham, with a sixth sense at smelling out rebounds, did some faking of his own and counted three goals and a foul to boost the Bucks.

Speedy Bobby Cook's fancy floor play and quick spurts at the bucket netted him two goals and three fouls for the Badger cause.

Once the Bucks broke the 8-8 deadlock they were masters over the much taller Wisconsin whizzes. Donham hawked the backboards, Neil Johnston, heretofore dead-footed Scarlet center, did some fancy rebounding of his own and combined with Bob Raidiger to hold Don Rehfeldt, high-scoring Wisconsin pivotman, to one goal and a free throw.

The shifting Buck zone defense completely bottled the Badgers, holding them to four goals in 35 first half shots. The Bucks banged in nine of 34 shots.

The Scarlet Jayvees hung up their sixth win in seven starts by running over Ohio University's Chillicothe branch, 64-31. Center Mario Giacomelli counted 14 points to lead the "Little Bucks."

Schnittker Sets Mark as Bucks Win

EAST LANSING, MICH., FEB. 21.—Lanky Dick Schnittker required less than two minutes to set a new Ohio State season's individual scoring record, and then continued his torrid pace to lead the Buckeyes to a 72-50 triumph over Michigan State here tonight.

A crowd of 11,377 saw why Ohio State has developed into the most talked about team in the middle west.

Schnittker poured in the three points he needed to break Dr. Jimmy Hull's 1939 record of 269 points for a season within 1:45 of the game and went on to spin 22 points into the net. His season total now stands at 289.

The Spartans never were in the lead. The Buckeyes set up a fancy pace for themselves. So fancy, in fact, that midway in the first period they had the Spartans down by a 29-11 score. The half ended, 37-24.

Much of Ohio State's point advantage in the first half can be laid to the fine defensive work of Neil Johnston. The 6-foot, 5-inch center from Chillicothe drew the assignment of covering Spartan ace Bob Brannum.

Brannum, who has averaged better than 16 points a game, could not connect for a single field goal in the first half. However, he dropped in four gift tosses to escape a first-half shut-out.

Much to the delight of the home fans, Michigan State closed the gap in the second half and with six minutes to go, came within five points of knotting the score at 41-46.

Ohio State recaptured its earlier torrid pace and put the game far and away in the closing stages. Schnittker, who had picked up four personal fouls during the first half, returned to the lineup and pumped in three field goals and three gift tosses to climax his evening.

The victory was Ohio State's ninth in 18 starts. It marked Michigan State's ninth defeat as against 10 victories.

Besides his defensive stellar defensive play, Johnston found time to connect for 16 Ohio State points.

OSU Moves Into Tie For Fifth Place

Scarlet and Gray
Five Never Trails

By KAYE KESSLER

With Dick Schnittker banging in 26 points, Ohio State blasted Indiana, 60-45, for its fifth Big Nine win Monday night in 11 games at the Coliseum.

The triumph coupled with Purdue's loss to Michigan, 46-35, boosted the Bucks into a fifth place tie with the Boilermakers in the Western Conference standings. Ohio State can close its Big Nine season with a 300 average by duplicating its previous victory over the Wolverines Saturday night at Ann Arbor.

Monday night's victory more than avenged an early season loss to the rough and tumble Hoosiers who went down to their seventh loss in 10 conference games.

Indiana managed to stay in the game and trailed only two points at 38-36 with 10 minutes of play remaining before Schnittker began hitting from all angles to leave Branch McCracken's boys in the lurch.

Count Tied Twice

Schnittker canned three free throws and a bunny shot, and Donham hit a tip before Don Ritter could count two fouls for the Hoosiers.

In the next 27 seconds, Schnittker sank two buckets on fast breaks and Gene Brown added another layup and the Hoosiers were lost in the dust as the Buckeyes moved out front 50-38.

Twice in the first half Indiana managed to tie the count, at 8-8 and 17-17, but the Hoosiers never held the lead as Coach Tippy Dye's dribblers were rolling to their fourth straight victory and 10th in 19 games this season.

Officials Criticized

Booing seldom has a place in athletic events but the only comment we can make to the razzing the 5528 fans gave officials Jim Currie and Joe Rieff is a loud, "Hurrah." To the officials, who called 46 personals and three technicals.....cabbages. It was rotten.

This last appearance on the local floor for the Bucks promised to be a first rate affair but Currie and Rieff chilled that from the start.

Neither Indiana nor Ohio State are capable of playing as ragged a ball game as took place for the first 30 minutes... the officials obviously cramped their style and loused up good basketball.

46 Personal Fouls

Nineteen of the personals were called on the Buckeyes while 27 went against the Hoosiers with an added three technicals going to the visitors for voicing their opinion on the officiating. Our sympathy rode home with the Hoosiers.

Blond Dick Schnittker was sensational as he banged in eight field goals on 19 shots with 10 free throws to boost his season total to 315, just 12 short of Jimmy Hull's record OSU high of 327 set in 21 games in 1939. The gangling Buck forward can smash Hull's record Saturday when the Buckeyes wind up their season at Michigan.

Behind Schnittker in the Buck scoring parade was deliberate Bobby Donham who counted 15 points on seven goals and one foul. Jerry Stuteville's 13 markers topped the losers' scoring while Don Ritter added 11.

In a preliminary game, Ohio State's "A" Frosh squad dumped the "B" team, 63-25.

Wolves Hold Schnittker To Seven Points

Michigan Clinches
Share of Big 9 Title

ANN ARBOR, MICH., Feb. 28.—Michigan's basketball team entered the Western Conference throne room for the first time since 1929 here tonight by defeating Ohio State's hustling sophomores, 40 to 36, to clinch at least a share of the Big Nine title.

It was no easy victory for the Wolverines who held a 12-point lead with only seven minutes of game time remaining only to see the sharp-shooting Buckeyes narrow the gap to four points at 39-35, with five minutes of time left. Tricky Stalling tactics on the part of the Wolverines in the closing three minutes of play saved their victory.

The triumph was Michigan's ninth in 11 Big Nine starts. The Wolverines will end their league season Monday night by playing host to second-place Iowa.

Ohio, which administered one of the two defeats Michigan has suffered in Big Nine play at Columbus Feb. 2, proved almost as bothersome tonight but in different fashion. In the early game, the Buckeyes were red hot on offense with a team shooting average of 42 per cent tonight. The Ohioans got 81 shots to Michigan's 68 but couldn't hit and wound up with 14 field goals for a meager 17 per cent average.

The Buckeye defense, however, was far from impotent tonight. With Center Neil Johnston and Forward Dick Schnittker doing excellent work under the boards and in tying up Michigan's drive in efforts, the Ohioans held Michigan to 15 field goals for a low 22 per cent average.

Divide Honors

Scoring honors were shared by Michigan's wiry Mack Suprunowicz and Capt. Bob Harrison with nine points each while Bob Burkholder paced the Buckeyes with eight counters. Schnittker, the third leading scorer in the Conference up until tonight with a 17.9 average in 10 games, was held to seven points by the carefully combined guarding of red-haired Pete Elliott and Lanky Bill Roberts. The two Wolverines changed off on the handy Buckeye scorer.

Record Crowd

The game was witnessed by a partisan crowd of 9100 fans, many of whom had stood in line for upwards of four hours waiting for the Yost Field House gates to be opened. It was the largest gathering ever to witness a Michigan basketball game here.

The big crowd didn't find too much to cheer during the slow moving first half but perked up as the Wolverines came on with a rush in the first 12 minutes of the second period to open up a 12-point margin for a 39 to 27 lead with less than eight minutes of play remaining.

The Buckeyes appeared all washed up at that point but they weren't as lanky Bob Raidiger and handy Bob Burkholder soon proved. The former popped one from well out and the latter dunked a pair of field goals and a free throw in quick succession to make the score read 39-35 with five minutes of playing time left. That ended the scoring except for a free throw on the part of each team in the game's dying seconds.

The varsity win made it a clean Michigan sweep following the afternoon junior varsity game in which the Wolverine seconds eked out a 64-62 triumph.

Dick Schnittker Most Valuable

The most valuable player on the Ohio State basketball team during the past season was Dick Schnittker, record-maker forward. Schnittker was chosen for the honor last night by the varsity lettermen. His name will be placed in the running for the Chicago Tribune's most valuable player trophy, for which each of the Big Nine teams is entering its selection.

Chosen honorary captain of the Bucks for the past season was Bob Donham, Schnittker's running mate at forward. The players decided to have Coach Tippy Dye again select a captain for each game next year. Varsity awards went to: Capt. Donham, Schnittker, Neil Johnston, Gene Brown, Bob Burkholder, Bob Raidiger, Bob Winter, Dick Hudson, Ted Jacobs and Manager Fred Schroer.

WIER, MCINTYRE ONL UNANIMOUS CHOICE ON BIG NINE TEA

Forward Murray Wier of Iowa and Center Jim McIntyre of Minnesota were unanimous choices to the official 1949 all Big Nine basketball team selected by the nine conference coaches, announced yesterday.

The third highest vote getter was Pete Elliott, Michigan guard, while Bob Harrison of Michigan and Dwight Eddleman of Illinois rounded out the first team at guard and forward. Scoring two points for a first team nomination a one for a second team, Eddleman drew the same number of points as Ohio State's sophomore forward, Dick Schnittker. But the first team forward spot went to Eddleman on the basis of his four first team nominations to Schnittker three.
