Schnittker's 19 Markers Paces Attack

Visitors Drop Second
To Big Nine Foe

By KAYE KESSLER

Ohio State's fast-breaking Buckeyes successfully opened their current basketball season with an effortless 60-48 win over Butler University before 6500 fans in the Fairgrounds Coliseum Saturday night.

Ohio State's loose-jointed Dick Schnittker rattled the nets for 19 points to take individual scoring honors as the Butlers went down to the second defeat of the season. They lost their opener to Illinois Friday night, 67-62.

Coach Tippy Dye's all-junior Buckeye squad went to the front on Guard Gene Brown's lay-up shot after 50 seconds and never trailed.

Schnittker Hot

With the six-foot five-inch Schnittker hitting for 13 points in the first 13 minutes the Buckeyes sailed into a 23-11 lead. The Bulldogs narrowed the lead to six points shortly thereafter but were never in the contest the rest of the way.

Particularly outstanding for the opening contest was the tight laced Ohio State man-to-man defense that completely bottled the not-so-hot Hoosiers all the way.

Switching men with uncanny accuracy, the Bucks plugged up the key-hole port shots and had the visitors firing from long range most of the night. It wasn't until seven minutes of play had elapsed that forward Bob Evans counted the first Butler field goal on a hook shot.

Brown Starts It

The Bucks went to work from the start as Guard Gene Brown bagged a lay-up after 50 seconds. Schnittker followed with two free throws and a fast break bucket while Doyle and O'Brien were counting foul shots for the Bulldogs. A charity toss and goals by Raidiger and Donham increased the Buckeye Margin to 11-5 after five minutes.

Going into the final five minutes of the first half, substitute forward Bill Shepherd hit two lay-up shots and Evans added a long one to pull the Bulldogs to within six points of the Bucks, but buckets by Burkholder and Donham gave the Bucks their 12-point margin as the half ended.

Trailing Schnittker in the scoring column was acting Buck Captain Bob Donham. The slow-footed but heady Hammond, Ind., forward hit for 13 points on four goals and five charity tosses.

Schnittker, who broke nearly all existing OSU scoring records as a sophomore, hit the nets for six goals and seven free throws.

Good Eyes

The Bucks showed unusual accurate shooting eyes for their first game as they hit .290 percent of their shots scoring 20 goals in 69 shots. Coach Tony Hinkle's Bulldogs counted 19 out of 80 shots.

A second half spurt pulled Butler within nine points of the Bucks at 32-23 but two fast-break goals by Donham and six straight points by Schnittker boosted the Bucks 17 points out front and it was no contest from that point on.

Dye emptied the bench in the closing minutes of the game giving his whole squad a chance for experience that's going to be needed in the rugged Big Nine race ahead.

Scoring Honors Split Three Ways

By KAYE KESSLER

Ohio State's rampaging basketballers did everything but blow taps as they buried sadly outclassed Marquette under a bucket barrage, 72-47, before 4910 fans in the State Fairgrounds Coliseum Monday night.

The neat bundle the Bucks made of Marquette was the second they've wrapped up this season in as many appearances. Coach Tippy Dye's Scarlet and Gray cagers trimmed Butler, 60-48, in Saturday's season opener.

The Bucks hit the road for a four-game holiday tour of the west before returning home for their Big Nine opener against Northwestern, Jan. 8.

Scoring Deadlock

Dick Schnittker, fast-breaking Buckeye forward, left his dead-eye home but still managed to net 13 points to share scoring honors with teammate Bob Raidiger and Marquette's Frank McCabe.

What had the makings of a good ball game the first 10 minutes turned into a complete rout for Dye's guys as they doubled the count, 42-21, at the half.

The gangling, six-foot eight-inch McCabe put the Hilltoppers out front with a charity toss and for the next nine minutes the lead sea-sawed back and forth three times and was tied thrice before the Bucks went out front to stay on Raidiger's pivot shot.

Control Rebounds

Marquette's height didn't mean a thing as Schnittker, Raidiger and bouncy Bob Donham controlled rebounds.

With guards Bob Burkholder and Gene Brown beating a merry tattoo on the nets, the Bucks ran the legs off the taller visitors before they got their much needed halftime breather.

Two quick buckets and a free throw pulled the Milwaukee quintet within 16 points of the Bucks at the start of the second half but the Bucks were soon off to the races.

Empties Bench

After the regulars built up a 58-33 lead with 10 minutes remaining in the game, Dye emptied his Buck bench to let the reserves protect the 25-point lead the rest of the way.

In all, 10 Buckeyes broke into the scoring column with the steady Donham following Schnittker and Raidiger with 12 points.

Most heartening to Dye was the scoring punch put into the guard positions by Burkholder and Brown. Burky hit four of seven field goals attempted and added two free throws for 10 points while Brownie whiffed four of eight shots and added a foul shot, all in the first half.

Tight Defense

The Buckeyes fired 73 times from the field and connected on 28 for a respectable .383 shooting average. Marquette managed but 18 of 79 attempted goals.

And, as in their opening game, the tight Buckeye man-for-man defense bottled up the opposition's close-range shooting. Nine of the Hilltoppers' 18 goals came from far out on the court.

Sparky Ted Jacobs, sub Buck forward, gave the fans a big laugh as he cut loose with a big field goal three-quarters of the length of the court... after the gun had ended the game.

The Buck varsity reserves drubbed the Jayvees, 71-43, in the preliminary game.

Buckeyes In Second Conquest

Dick Schnittker, Raidiger Share Scoring Honors

By DAN OLCH,
State Journal Sports Writer

Despite a tight defensive net thrown around their star forward, Dick Schnittker, Ohio State's Buckeye last night trampled Marquette, 72 to 47, before an undersized audience of 4910 at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Hilltoppers had their six-foot-eight pivoter, Frank McCabe, with practically one foot in Schnittker's shoe all evening, so that the Buckeyes relied on team strength rather than individual flash as was the case in their victory opener over Butler.

SHARE HONORS

Schnittker and Center Dan Raidiger shared point honors at 13-all, but the smallest total turned in by a regular was Gene Brown's nine. Bob Donham meshed 12 and Bob Burkholder plunked in 10.

Buckeye Coach Tippy Dye tried to show his heart wasn't made of stone when he pulled the last four of his regulars mid-way in the last half with the score 58 to 33. However, the shock troops, while turning the floor maneuvering into a circus, didn't falter in keeping the nets parted.

The Buck regulars weren't too slick themselves in the matter of locating the hoop in the first half. In fact their edge was only one point (12 to 11) with seven minutes of the half consumed. Slowly they gained ground until the count was 29 to 20.

RAPID-FIRE SCORING

Then in rapid-fire order the Scarlet and Gray swished in 13 points in a row, before McCabe signed off the first half scoring with a free throw. Brown, Buckeye game captain, and Burkholder primed the hook shots to sink two apiece, Donham and Schnittker accounted for a goal apiece and Raidiger arch-through a free throw for the 13.

Most of the fireworks were over at the half, since Schnittker was the only regular to later improve on his first-half contribution. He showed an increase of from six to seven.

Schnittker had trouble whizzing the ball past McCabe which resulted in a lot of rimmers for Dick. Several times, though, he obtained clear shots by some clever fakir which made his pursuer look like a monkey.

Varsity Reserves Win

In turn, Raidiger performed an effective job of riding herd over McCabe until Dan departed at the six-minute mark in the last half under the ominous threat of foul personal fouls. On the attack Raidiger was bombarding the basket with a long-armed pivot shot which was hard for the Hilltoppers to cope with.

The Buckeye varsity reserves won the preliminary contest from their junior varsity teammates, 43 to 43. Chuck Worthley of the reserves was high with 19.

Jim Clark, late of the football squad, tucked in 14 for the same cause. Jack Lewis, the former Bexley athlete, paced the JV's with 15.

NORMAN, OKLA., DEC. 18—Oklahoma Sooners knocked Ohio State from the undefeated ranks with a 64-55 overtime victory before 5000 partisan fans here tonight. The Sooners made up a 14-point deficit with a brilliant last-half rally and went on to shut the Buckeyes in the extra period, while scoring nine points themselves.

With Flashy Dick Schnittker pouring through 23 points, Ohio State raced to a 40-32 lead in the free-wheeling first half. The Bucks widened their lead to 49 to 35 with 15 minutes left before the Sooners slowed the fast-breaking Big Nine squad down.

Paul Courty, Oklahoma's all-Big Seven forward, cashed in nine straight points, while the Bucks went scoreless to close the gap to 1-50 with 5 minutes remaining.

With 15 seconds left in the game, Courty fired a one-handed set shot from 30 feet out to give the Sooners a 55-53 lead, but Bob Burkholder flipped in a long desperation heave with five seconds remaining to send the game into overtime.

Oklahoma completely dominated the extra period, controlling every rebound and coolly shaking men loose under the bucket on set plays.

Schnittker led the scorers with 42 points, while Center Bill Waters with 19, Courty with 16, and Glasgow with 11, paced the Sooners.

BERKELEY, CAL., Dec. 22.—Ohio State's Buckeye cage forces go after their second straight victory over the University of California tonight, after handing the Bears a convincing 74-60 defeat here last night before 6500 partisan fans.

Last night's win put the Bucks back on the victory trail after having dropped a 64-55 overtime decision to the Oklahoma Sooners at Norman, Okla., Saturday night.

As usual long Dick Schnittker was a scoring marvel, getting 23 points to aid in disrupting the California defense. And when the Bears put two men on the OSU blond, his running mate, Bob Donham, beat a merry tune on the score board. He, too, collected 23 markers. Each counted his points on nine buckets and five charity tosses. Center Bob Raidiger joined the scoring parade to collect 16 points. In all the trio accounted for 62 of Ohio State's 74 markers.

Early Command

The Bucks used their pivot shots and fast break effectively throughout. They ran up a 13-0 lead in the first four minutes of play. The Bears bore down from that point and closed the gap to 40-35 at the halftime intermission, but the invaders never were in serious trouble.

Th California cagers apparently had plenty of advance notices on Schnittker for they put two men on him at the start. They made quite a mistake there for Donham proceeded to spearhead the OSU attack, getting seven of his 23 markers in the first four minutes.

Last night's scoring spree by Donham and the fact that he wasn't lost on fouls provided a marked difference from Saturday night when Ohio State lost to the Sooners in the overtime period after havinz led practically all the way. In the Saturday tilt Donham cashed only one free toss and retired via the personal foul route.

Fight Defense

The tight defense that was set up by Tippy Dye's Ohio State dribblers kept the Bears shooting from far out nearly the whole game.

When the Bucks weren't scoring on their fast break, with Donham to Schnittker either scoring on a lay-in or tip-in, Schnittker and Raidiger were teaming on a double-pivot play that brought many points for the visitors and had the Bears pretty well puzzled. Raidiger got 11 of his 16 points in the second half.

After Ohio had built up a safe 59-48 lead midway in the last half, both coaches substituted freely. In all, Dye sent 11 men into the game while California Coach Nibs Price cleared the home bench, using 15 players.

Buckeyes Nip Cal In Brawl

Poor Officiating Say Coaches

By Bill Anderson

Coach Nibs Price of the California Bears basketball team, usually a sad man following a losing effort, today was able to chortle and even boast a teeny-weensy bit about "my boys."

"My boys" went down to a second successive defeat at the hands of a hot-shooting Ohio State quintet last night but only by a four-point, 68-64 margin. A crowd of 3,000 saw the intersectional.

Had the Bears hit a slightly higher percentage on free throws they could have upset the unbeaten Buckeyes. Each team scored 24 goals from the floor but while Cal was collecting on only 16 of a possible 30 foul line awards, the Midwesterners netted 20 out of 28 attempts.

It must be admitted the Bears didn't get any the worst of the officiating. As a matter of fact, even Price agreed the game was "badly handled," while the winning coach, Bill (Tippy) Dye, said cautiously, "I felt we got the worst of the bad calls but maybe I'm prejudiced. I will say the officials let the game run wild and degenerate into a near-brawl."

At least two calls handed Cal field goals. Both were out-of-bounds plays. On one, Mike O'Neill of the Bears stood flat-footed behind the basket and knocked a flying ball back in bounds for Cal to fast-break and score while Buckeye players stood by looking askance at Umpire Ben Gower. The other was accounted for when Referee Lloyd Leith loudly yelled, "White (Ohio State) out," and while three Midwesterners raced down court on offense, Cal was given the ball and Tom Ruebel calmly dumped in a 15-foot push shot with nobody near to guard him.

LET REFS TAKE NOTE

When even Cal rooters will boo calls in favor of their own team, something is decidedly wrong with the officiating.

Let it be a warning to the ruling clique in the officials' association to start clicking with some semblance of class.

With that, leave us get back to why Nibs was not unhappy at losing a "close" to Ohio State.

First, he said, "The Buckeyes are a fine team with good height and good shooting. But we could have won it with a couple of hits when we set up for the forward across the keyhole. We played much better ball last night. We're coming right along."

Cal couldn't quite handle the Buckeyes' two big boys, Dick Schnittker and Bob Raidiger, who hooked from around the post for 18 and 14 points, respectively. But with Bob Walker casting off from outside up to 30-foot distances, the Bears stayed right in there. They fell off the pace by eight points in the first half but rallied in the closing minutes before intermission to leave the floor trailing at 33-36.

LOST 12-POINT LEAD

The Midwesterners again stepped out in front, this time with a 12-point lead and nine minutes to go, when the Bears came charging—and that's an apt one-word description—back to within three points while a minute of time remained to pull it out.

Walker meshed nine field goals and four out of six charities for high-point honors at 22. He was the lone Bear to hit consistently.

In the preliminaries the Bear Cubs won their sixth in a row, beating Shasta High, 39-33. The Blues fell before San Mateo JC, 38-35.

BERKELEY, CAL., Dec. 23.—Ohio State University's touring basketball team made it two in a row over California by cutting short a rally by the Bears here last night. The final tally read, Ohio State 68, California 64.

Again it was blond Dick Schnittker who led the way for the Buckeyes. The sensational Ohio court artist poured 18 points through the hoops on six buckets and a like number of gift heaves. In two games with California and one with the Oklahoma Sooners on the current tour, Schnittker has collected 73 markers for an average of better than 24 points a game.

The Buckeyes experienced a little more difficulty in mastering California last night than they did the night before. In the initial engagement between the two rivals, Ohio romped to a 74-60 triumph.

Bucks in Command

The Bears were trailing by 65 to 51 with only three minutes remaining. That's where their rally got under way only to be cut short by the gun. A total of 48 personal fouls were called, 25 against the Bucks.

Despite the closeness of the score the Buckeyes dominated the play through most of the game. Their only real trouble came in the early minutes. The lead changed hands six times in the first four minutes, with California pulling away to a brief 13-8 lead. But by the time seven minutes had elapsed Ohio State took a 16-15 advantage and widened the gap to 28-18 before the Bears whittled it down to 36-33 at the halftime intermission.

Individual scoring honors for the evening went to California guard Bob Walker, who split the nets for 20 markers. Schnittker was next followed by his mates Bob Donham, with 15; Bob Raidiger, with 14; Gene Brown, with 10, and Bob Burkholder, with nine. That comprised the Ohio State starting lineup. Substitutes contributed only two additional points.

Face Denver Monday

Ohio State Coach Tippy Dye used nine men while California's Nib Owens sent 12 men into the fray.

Monday night Ohio State winds up its current tour by moving to Denver, Colo., for a battle with hapless Denver U.

Boryla Is Held To 15 Points

DENVER, DEC. 28.—(AP)—Two hustling forwards, Dick Schnittker and Bob Donham, led Ohio State to victory over Denver University last night, 66-57, in a basketball thriller. These two high-scoring Buckeyes broke up a skin-tight game in the last three minutes.

The great part of Ohio State's victory was due to its ability to hold Vince Boryla, big Denver center, former Notre Dame and AAU star, in comparative check. Boryla, playing with a severe cold, scored only 15 points, lowest output of any game this season. Previously he averaged nearly 23 points in seven contests, only two of which Denver had won.

Beautiful Battle

The first half was as beautiful a game as the crowd of 4,200 could hope to see. Denver pulled away to a 30-27 halftime margin in the last 60 seconds before the rest period.

The lead changed hands 16 times during the game.

Denver collected a 50-46 lead with 5½ minutes to play. Then Ohio State stormed to a 52-50 lead and Denver knotted the score on Boryla's long side shot, but the Bucks went on from there to victory.

Donham Outstanding

Ohio State's one-two punch of Schnittker and Donham accounted for 43 points. Schnittker made 25, sinking several after taking passes from Donham, who was the best ball rustler on the floor.

The Buckeyes were especially successful in keeping Boryla at long range during first half. He went scoreless for 11 minutes, and only picked up two field goals in the first half.

During the evenly-played first half, the teams traded lead 11 times. Denver took a 16-9 lead with nine minutes gone but the next three minutes, Ohio State fought back and took a 20-18 edge.

Ninety seconds after the last half started, Ohio State had erased Denver's margin and pulled away to a 33-30 advantage. Denver tied it again at 33 on a basket and free throw by Jack Hauser.

Pioneers Lead Again

Schnittker, Bob Raidiger and Ted Jacobs collaborated to send the Bucks to the fore again by four points. With eight minutes gone they were nursing a 43-38 lead when Gerry Hughes broke away for two field goals and added two free throws to put the Pioneers back in front by a single point.

Mario Giacomelli sank a charity toss to deadlock it. Then Donham stole the ball out of a Denver player's hands and sank a jump shot. Boryla came back in the game to collect two field goals. Hauser sank two free throws to put Denver ahead for the last time.

Decision Is Iced

Donham bagged a one-hander, Schnittker took a pass from Donham to tie it at 50. Fifteen seconds later Schnittker again hit the target and Boryla matched it with a long heave.

Donham hit another one-hander and added a free throw. Schnittker stormed in for two quickies for a 59-52 margin with two minutes to go. Denver never came any closer than six points after that.

One Denver starter, Ronnie Johnson, who had made nine points, suffered an attack of nerves just before intermission and was unable to play again.

Ohio State was to leave for home at 4 p. m. with a record of five wins and one loss. The Buckeyes open their Big Nine campaign at Columbus Jan. 8 against Northwestern.

Buck Cagers Score Their 5th Victory

Dick Schnittker High With 25 Points

DENVER, COLO., Dec. 28.—Ohio State's swift-moving basketball forces cracked Denver's defenses wide open in the last two minutes of play Monday night, to win 66 to 57, and going away.

A full house in the Denver fieldhouse marvelled at the offensive skill of Dick Schnittker, who rammed home 20 points in the second half to take scoring honors with a classy 25-point total.

The contest was a thriller for 38 minutes as the lead changed hands repeatedly. Jack Hauser of Columbus and Ronnie Johnson kept Denver in the game the first half with accurate shooting as Ohio State's Bob Raidiger covered Vince Boryla like a tent.

Hits for 15 Points

Boryla, suffering from a bad chest cold, cashed in 15 points. Vince said after the game that Raidiger was the toughest defensive gent he has faced this season.

The score was knotted at 52-52 with two minutes to go when the Bucks got their vaunted fast break into full speed. Donham drove in and hit a left-hand hook shot to make it 54 points and then moved the figure to 55 with a foul shot.

Breaks Game Open

Schnittker then proceeded to break the game open at the seams as he charged in for two wide open kills off the fast break. Raidiger and Donham added to the burst with side shots while Boryla and Ed Little were getting five points for Denver. Denver attempted a pressing defense as time was running out but the Bucks only gained momentum.

Coach Tippy Dye said Monday night's tussle was one of the best games played on the road but thought Ohio State's first game against California was the superior performance of this new season by his team.

Ohio State alumni, although only 20 strong, shouted encouragement with gusto to the Bucks. They were led by Pete Hershberger.

OSU Pressed In Recording 68-56 Win

Dick Schnittker
Gets 22 Points

By KAY KESSLER

After playing lackadaisical ball most of the way Ohio State's Buckeyes broke the ball game wide open to run away with Northwestern, 68-56, in their first Western Conference game of the season at the Fairgrounds Coliseum Saturday night.

After leading at the half, 32-24, the Bucks seemed to grow listless as the Wildcats fired from all angles and took the lead 41-39 with 11 minutes left in the game.

Then the Bucks came to life, getting their fast break moving in the right direction, running the legs off the long Wildcats who had won only two of seven games previous to last night's Big Nine opener.

Schnittker Leads

Blond Dick Schnittker, who sported a 21.7 per game average in his first six games, paced the Buckeyes to victory with 22 points on nine goals and a quartet of charity tosses.

For the entire first half and 10 minutes of the final, the Bucks passed poorly, missed most of the rebounds and stayed ahead of the 'Cats only because of their sensational shooting that saw them ring the bell on 28 of 69 attempted field goals for a .410 shooting average.

Control Rebounds

The Wildcats, with footballer George Maddock, Ray Ragelis and Don Blasius doing most of the backboard work, dogged the Bucks all the way and controlled both baskets on rebounds.

Blasius, Guard Bob Hughes and Ragelis pushed the Cats into their first lead of the game in the second half with only Center Bob Raidinger able to keep the Bucks in the running.

Raidinger, who counted 13 points for the evening, hit one sideshot while all this was going on and then scored two goals on fast breaks and added a foul to put the Bucks into a 44-44 tie with 10 minutes remaining.

Schnittker took over from this point on and Northwestern never got back in the game.

Regilis pumped in 15 points to lead the visitors while Donham hit 12 for the Bucks.

Real Test Monday

A little more accuracy from the field would have put Northwestern very much in the ball game since they hit only 22 of 81 attempted for a .271 average.

The Bucks get a real test of Big Nine competition Monday night when they tangle with the high-flying Illinois cagers on the Coliseum boards.

The 6065 fans who watched Saturday's victory over Northwestern still didn't fill the Coliseum and the Assistant Buck Ticket Director Wade Kraner announced that 500 standing-room-only ducats will go on sale at 9 a. m. Monday for the Illinois game at the OSU ticket office. Any empty seats not taken 15 minutes after game time will then be available for the SRO tickets-holders.

Give Bucks Lead

Eight points by Dick Schnittker and some fancy drive-in shots by Guard Bob Burkholder helped the Ohio State to a 42-24 halftime lead over Northwestern but the Wildcats were giving the Bucks some tense moments.

Bad passing and poor rebound work slowed the Bucks down despite a phenomenal .500 shooting average that saw them count 14 of 28 attempted field goals.

Inaccuracy from the firing line kept Northwestern trailing the entire half as the 'Cats connected on only 10 of 41 attempted shots.

Six-foot five-inch George Maddock, a tackle on the Northwestern Rose Bowl football squad, stepped into the starting center slot for Northwestern and was the big boy on rebounds.

After three bad passes the Bucks finally connected for the game's first goal with Bob Raidinger hooking one in. The Bucks moved out front nine to three and led the rest of the way.

Schnittker counted three field goals and two fouls with Burkholder adding three goals on fancy drive-in shots with his left hand.

Billy Sticklen led the visitors with eight points on three goals and two charity tosses.

Defeat At Home Hurts

By PAUL HORNUNG

Whirlwind Illini broke Ohio State's basketball heart Monday night in the Fairgrounds Coliseum, 64-63, in a thriller that left the 6958 fans panting and exhausted.

Illinois edged into the lead in the ding-dong last-half duel, 58-57, with 5:32 to play, but Dick Schnittker looped one in from under the bucket for a 59-58 Buckeye margin. Bob Raidiger batted one in on a rebound and Bob Burkholder went driving in and flipped a fielder to put Ohio State in the van 63-58 with 3:02 remaining on the scoreboard clock.

Furious Scrap

For 47 seconds the two teams fought furiously back and forth, neither denting the net before Fred Thurlby, Illini guard, potted a long one. It was then 63-60. Wally Osterkorn, Illini center, pitched a perfect free throw and 'twas 63-61, with 56 seconds to go.

Illinois elected to take the ball out of bounds instead of attempting a free throw. Osterkorn batted in a rebound and the game stood 63-63 with 18 seconds remaining.

The Bucks grabbed the ball and worked it downcourt, where Schnittker barreled into Osterkorn and incurred a personal foul for charging. Osterkorn stepped to the free throw line and dropped the ball into the hoop. Score: Illinois, 64; Ohio State, 63. Time: 16 seconds.

Last Resort Falls

Again, the Bucks hurried the ball downcourt, trying desperately to work it in for a good shot. Failing, Donham fired. The ball hit the rim and bounced back toward him. Fred Green, 6-foot 7-inch Illinois sub center, snatched it and as he did, Donham fouled him. The Illinois took the ball out of bounds, pitched it in and stalled the three remaining seconds.

Of course, that doesn't quite tell the whole story of heart-break. In those closing minutes, the Bucks missed six straight free throws, any one of which would have tied the game, any two of which would have won it. Altogether, the Buckeyes missed 15 of 30 charity offers. Illinois missed 13 of 27.

At Iowa Saturday

Thus, the Bucks go into preparations Tuesday for their Iowa visit Saturday night with a record of six wins in eight starts, but only a 500 rating in the Big Nine. They nipped Northwestern, 68-56, Saturday night for their first conference win.

Illinois, on the other hand, jumped into a commanding lead in the Big Nine, this being its third straight in league play and its 11th in 12 tilts for all games.

So far as the conference title race is concerned, Monday night's defeat was a terrific blow to the Bucks. With so many good teams in the loop, a defeat at home could be mighty damaging.

Illinois has scored two of its three wins on the road, having edged Indiana at Bloomington Saturday night, 57-56, in a breathtaking double overtime. That's grave, because the Illini are very rugged in their own gym confines.

Schnittker Gets 20

Schnittker again staged a sensational performance in hooping 20 points and Raidiger, playing one of his best games, ran a close second with 17. Osterkorn was Illinois' top man at 15.

Schnittker and Dike Eddleman, Illini all-conference forward, excited in the hectic final minutes on fouls, while three others on each team had been charged with four apiece.

The first half was a weird mixture of ineptness and sensationalism on the part of both teams. The Illini flashed brilliantly at times, especially when speed merchant Dick Erickson really turned on the fancy stuff. And so did the Bucks. Then both teams would put a poor high school team to shame with wild passes, running with the ball, pathetic pitches at the bucket and little alertness.

For the game, Illinois dropped 25 of 83 shots from the field, Ohio 24 of 68, including eight of 19 for Schnittker and seven of 12 for Raidiger.

The Buck Jay-Vees won a preliminary from the Dayton Kittyhawks, 69-36.

Bob Raidiger Leads OSU To 57 to 54 Win

Schnittker Still In Iowa Hospital

MADISON, WIS., Jan. 18.—Ohio State University's Buckeye cagers won one for their stricken star forward, Dick Schnittker, here last night, rallying in the closing minutes to overcome a seven-point deficit and beat the Wisconsin Badgers, 57-54, in a Western Conference basketball game.

Schnittker, leading scorer for the invading Bucks, remained in University Hospital, Iowa City, Ia., last night while his mates upset the Badgers who had figured the lads from Columbus, O., were ripe for another killing. Ohio State fell to the Iowa Hawkeyes Saturday night, 53-49, when Schnittker missed his first game due to a throat infection.

The blond Buck scoring ace was scheduled to be released from the hospital today.

Inspiration

Schnittker's mates, last night, played as though their point-getting star was sparking them all the way. With less than four minutes to play the Buckeyes trailed at 48-41, but they came up with some great plays to knock off the Badgers.

Lanky Bob Raidiger, Ohio State center, dumped in a rebound to start the closing rally. The Badgers came back with three quick points but then Jim Remington and Raidiger combined for eight points in a hurry to put the visitors in the lead which they were able to hold the balance of the way.

Wisconsin narrowed the margin to one point twice in the final minute, but Raidiger and Ted Jacobs, Schnittker's replacement, scored on sleeper plays to ice the victory.

Raidiger Gets 23

Raidiger took up the individual scoring honors that have been Schnittker's throughout the season by blasting 23 counters, 12 of them in the second half rally.

Bob Donham, the play-making star of the Buckeye attack, contributed a good share of the Ohio State points, getting 17 markers on seven buckets and a trio of gift shots before bowing out of the game via the personal foul route.

For the Badgers, lanky Don Rehfeldt, who tallied 27 points against Indiana Saturday night, came through with 17 points to lead his mates. He tallied 14 of his in the final half. Burly forward Fred Schneider scored 14 for the Wisconsin cause in the initial half, but made only one field goal in the final 20 minutes.

Saturday night Ohio State will be back in action on its home boards at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum for a Western Conference tussle with the Purdue Boilermakers who last night were humbled, 56-42, by Indiana.

He Gets 18 In Ohio's 66-56 Win

By PAUL HORNING

Ohio State had the services of its brilliant forward, Dick Schnittker, for only 13 minutes and 58 seconds and it had plenty of trouble with Purdue Saturday night, before finally snaring its third Big Nine win, 66-56, in the Fair Grounds Coliseum.

Schnittker, hospitalized until Wednesday with a strep throat, sparked a last half point splurge, dunking 10 himself for a game total of 18. That was slightly below his 21.5 average but not bad for a recently-sick man.

However, the Bucks had broken the backs of the stubborn Boilermakers before Schnittker came on the scene. Following intermission, at which time the Bucks led, 33-29, Purdue came back with a rally that earned the lead and at one time a 44-40 margin.

Boilermakers Threaten

At that juncture, 11:27 to play to be exact, Bob Raidinger, suffering one of his worst nights, finally flared up. He potted a pivot shot to make it 42-44, Bob Burkholder added a free throw and Raidinger came back with a lay-up fielder and a free throw to give the Bucks a lead they never surrendered.

Bob Donham and Schnittker then chimed in and the Bucks were exploding and the Boilermakers falling away at the seams.

With all due respect to the greatness of Schnittker, even under par physically, and Raidinger, much of the credit for the Bucks' eighth win of the season against three defeats—3 and 2 in the Big Nine—must go to Sophomore Frenchy Franchimont. He was inserted into the lineup in the mid-last half and did a fine job of rebounding and playmaking.

Bucks Hot From Field

The Bucks were again deadly from the field, parking 23 of their 66 shots into the net, while Purdue, which has suffered from "cold" shooting, dropped in 20 of 82 attempts.

Johnny Williams, Purdue forward, finally broke his streak of consecutive free throws at 18 when he missed his first effort Saturday night, but he made good on his three succeeding chances for a season record of 21-1.

Tempo Increases

Purdue hung on doggedly in the first half, although neither team was anywhere near sensational in the first 15 minutes. The score was tied six times, although the Boilermakers managed to get ahead only twice, at 18-17 and again at 20-18.

Ohio State set a fast enough pace, but its passing game was ragged and its rebounding far from alert.

With six minutes and 26 seconds left to play in the half, Coach Tippy Dye sent in Schnittker, who picked up the tempo considerably, not so much with his own scoring, but in attracting closer attention of the Boilermakers defense. That freed some of the other Bucks for point getting.

Schnittker scored only one basket himself, an under drive-in shot, but he dumped six of eight free throws through the hoop to help his two-week-dormant point total.

Three straight free throws by the Buckeye star and a long push shot from the side court by sub Fred Taylor put the Bucks in a 24-20 lead, which they maintained safely to intermission.

His Presence Sparks Squad In 66-56 Win

Scores 18 Points
In Purdue Defeat

By KAYE KESSLER

Dick Schnittker, still under par from a week's illness of flu, felt good enough to play 14 minutes, count 18 points and lead his Ohio State teammates to a 66-56 victory over Purdue before 6374 fans in the Coliseum Saturday night.

The victory was Ohio State's third in five Big Nine games, the defeat was Purdue's third in the same number of games.

Ohio State Coach Tippy Dye held Schnittker out of the game until his Buckeyes were trailing 20-18 with six minutes and 26 seconds remaining in the first half. Schnittker went in, the Bucks went to work and hit eight straight points (Schnittker getting three fouls) to assume a 26-20 lead. All told, Schnittker hit for six fouls shots and a field goal in his six minute first half stint to put the Bucks out front, 33-29, at the intermission.

Purdue rallied in the second half to move into a 38-35 lead as Schnittker sat on the bench. Bob Raidinger, Buck pivot man, kept the Bucks in the game and finally put them ahead, 46-44, with a free throw, his 10th point of the second half.

Schnittker In

And then came Schnittker again and the Buckeyes were off to the races. They counted eight more points before the Boilermakers could score, as the Bucks moved out front, 54-44, and Purdue was out of the ball game.

Schnittker went wild on the fast-break. He faked Purdue men off their feet and had the Boilermakers bewildered at the end. He drew nine of the 29 fouls called against the Boilermakers, who vainly tried to stop his deadly shooting and counted 10 of his 13 charity tosses.

It was this same Purdue quintet, playing with only five men, who had but seven fouls called against them as they trimmed Michigan, 45-36, earlier in the season.

Raidiger Stars

Raidiger came in for his share of glory as he meshed 14 minutes before leaving the game with five personal fouls in the closing minutes. Raidiger, held to one goal the first half, kept the Buckeyes in the ball game during Purdue's second half rally.

Bob Donham, classy Scari and Gray player-maker, set the Buckeye pace as he set up much of the fast-break plays and still found time to count 12 points.

Forward Howard Williams and Guard Bill Berberian led the Boilermaker scorers with 13 and 12 points, respectively.

The Difference

With Schnittker out of the Buck lineup Purdue was very much in the ball game. With Schnittker in the game Purdue would have been better off in LaFayette.

In the way of statistics, Ohio State counted 23 of 66 attempted field goals for a .348 shooting average. Purdue hit 20 of 82 attempted shots for a .243 average. OSU cashed in on 20 of 32 free throws while Purdue meshed 16 of 24.

A total of 23 personal fouls were called against the Buckeyes with Raidiger and Bob Burkholder getting the maximum number and the gate. Center Andy Butchko was the only Boilermaker to draw personal.

Schnittker Returns

Ohio State moved ahead of Purdue, 33-29 at the end of the first half with Forward Dick Schnittker returning to the line-up after a week's illness to make the big difference.

Ohio State trailed 20-18 as Schnittker entered the game for the first time with but six minutes and 26 seconds in the first half. The Buckeyes caught fire immediately, made eight straight points, Schnittker getting three fouls shots to go ahead, 26-20.

In the six minutes he played

Schnittker drew eight free throws made six and added a fast break goal that helped Ohio State to its half time lead.

Schnittker and Guard Bob Burkholder each counted eight first half points.

Ralph Theissen's seven points led the Boilermakers.

Purdue went out front on Bill Butterfield's long shot but Jacob counted a long one for the Buck and the game see-sawed back and forth the rest of the half.

Buck Javes Lose

Purdue Forward Williams, who had connected on 18 consecutive free throws prior to Saturday's game, missed his first attempt in the Buckeye battle but started a new string with two straight in the first half.

Ohio University's classy freshman quintet out classed Ohio State Jay Vees, 40-32, in the preliminary game.

Wolves Display Old Form

ANN ARBOR, JAN. 29—Employing a pressing defense with speed and accurate shooting, from both the floor and foul line, Michigan upset Ohio State's cagers here tonight, 54 to 48, to put a serious crimp in the Bucks' championship aspirations.

The floor work and ball-hawking of Mack Suprunowicz and Bob Harrison, coupled with good defensive work by Pete Elliott, not only kept the oval in possession of the winners most of the time, but forced the Ohioans into long range shooting.

The outcome was hardly in doubt after five minutes of the second half. It took this long for the Bucks to score after intermission when the Wolves increased their 29-25 half-time lead to 38-25.

A long one-handed shot by Gene Brown broke the Buckeye lull. Shortly afterward, due chiefly to long shots by Harrison, Michigan increased its lead to 44-28, widest gap in the scoring.

Suprunowicz, who always has been a thorn to the Bucks, led both teams in scoring with 19 and Dick Schnittker was held to 15, which just about tells the story in itself.

The Wolverines displayed an aggressiveness they've lacked all season in registering their second triumph in four conference tilts.

The entire Wolverine aggregation looked better in every respect, their play approaching the standard of last year's Big Nine championship team for the first time this season.

During the first half the score was tied on four occasions and the lead changed hands six times. The Buckeyes were in the van until Elliott tipped one in to tie the count at 8-8.

The Bucks had taken a 5-to-1 lead at the outset but after the first deadlock Michigan went ahead on a long shot by Vanderkuy. Schnittker tied the score at 10-10 with another long one and then the lead changed hands until Harrison dribbled in fast to put Michigan in the lead at 17-13.

The Wolverines then were never headed after that. The closest the Bucks could come was four points, which was the margin at the half, 29 to 25.

Ohioans Topple Gophers from Lead

By PAUL HORNUNG

"Bring on those league-leaders."

That appears to be the motto which spurs Ohio State's inconsistent basketball team to Olympian heights of brilliance.

Last year, the Bucks played their finest ball of the season in upsetting Michigan, 70-66, thereby knocking the Wolverines out of top perch in the Western Conference.

Saturday night, as 7078 tension-wracked fans fairly raised the Fairgrounds Coliseum roof with screams, the Bucks did it again. This time Minnesota's Golden Gophers staggered out under a stunning 48-39 upset, a setback which skidded Minnesota out of the Big Nine lead. Its record now reads 6-2, to 5-1 for Illinois.

BIG NINE STANDINGS

The Buckeyes, who may have vaulted back into the conference race with this fourth win in seven starts, authored a sensational, inspired performance that will go down in cage annals with the greatest. They were irresistible, relentless, positively dazzling.

In every department of the game, the Bucks were superior—passing, play-making, rebounding, defense and certainly in fight.

Oddly enough, Ohio showed strongest in two departments in which it had been far less than sensational previously. Minnesota's 39 points constituted the Buck's finest defensive effort of the year—and by coincidence, it came against the No. 1 defensive team in the conference. The Bucks played a combination zone-man-for-man to perfection—a defense which, incidentally, Cowles has used many times himself.

Up to this game, Guard Gene Brown had the lowest per-game scoring average of the Buckeye regulars, a puny 4.6. Saturday night, Brown pitched in six field goals, most of them long south-paw net-splacers, and added a free throw to lead both teams in scoring in what was to have been a "scoring battle" between 6-foot-9-inch Jim McIntyre and Whitey Skoog, who ranked 1-2 in Big Nine point getting, and the Bucks equally brilliant Dick Schnittker and Bob Raidiger.

McIntyre Scores 12

McIntyre, manacled effectively by Ohio's Raidiger and Bob Donham, settled for 12, the same number recorded by Schnittker and Raidiger. Skoog, while dazzling the fans with phenomenal floor work and a jump-push shot, scored only eight.

Buckeye Coach Tippy Dye said after the game: "I think we could have beaten anybody the way we played tonight, particularly on defense." None of the 7078 fans would take issue with that statement—and neither would Cowles or the Gophers. The latter called Ohio State "by far the best team we've seen all season."

The Raidiger-Donham defensive effort on McIntyre and equally impressive defensive performances by the other Bucks contributed mightily to the triumph. But by and large it was more the alertness, the never-say-die scrap of the Bucks that paid off.

They stole the ball from the Gophers, who are supposed to be past masters at the art of "control" basketball; they controlled both back boards despite the giant McIntyre, chiefly by alertness; they stalled offensively at stretches throughout the last seven minutes and completely thwarted the desperate and "pressing" Gophers in the last three minutes.

BUCKSHOT—Dick Siebert, former Columbus Red Bird first baseman, did play-by-play of the game for a St. Louis radio station. Ohio State wasn't as "hot" on its shooting as it has been, potting 21 of 71, but it was hot enough for the Gophers, who hit 17 of 62. Gene Brown was knocked cold in a collision with Bob Donham late in the game and left the scene, under his own power, however.

It's been a long time—at least as long ago as last year's Michigan classic—since the Coliseum rocked with so much cheering and hand clapping—the fans really rose to give the Bucks an ovation after the final gun—Young Mr. Skoog wasn't a fireball at scoring Saturday night—it was the first time all season he's been held under double figures—but he impressed everyone as one of the great cagers of many a moon. The Bucks meet Indiana Monday night in the Coliseum—Minnesota's squad left immediately after the game by its charter plane and was to be home at 2 a. m. Only 19 personal fouls were called in the cleanest game here in years, with the Bucks charged with only eight. Most of Minnesota's 11 came in the final minutes when it was trying to get the ball...

two seconds had elapsed. T. Bucks were never headed after that, following Olson's drive for the Gophers' first fielder with a lay-up by Burkholder on a beautiful pass off from Schnittker.

Olson drilled in the first, his three extra long shots, but Schnittker flipped an underhand shot, a free throw, Brown added charity and Schnittker came back with a deadly hook shot to recount all the way to 12-4 with 5:36 played.

McIntyre hit a rebound fielder Olson a layup and Skoog a one hand push shot while the Bucks were scoring only on Brown's long southpaw throw to slice the margin to 14-10.

However Brown hit another longie and Raidiger potted two in a row as Schnittker added one before the Gophers opened their fire threat of any kind.

Ohio, despite the presence of McIntyre, controlled both back boards effectively and played heads up ball all the way.

Gophers Threaten

Minnesota left at intermission trailing 29-23 but it came back with a relentless drive that had Ohio partisans worried considerably. It appeared very much as though the Gophers were going to steal a page from the Marine and get the situation well in hand.

The ex-league leaders sliced the Buckeye margin to 31-29 with less than four minutes gone, thanks to two fielders by Guard Jerry Mitchell from corner. Burkholder's long one was matched by McIntyre's pivot, making it 33-31 and Raidiger and Grant traded two pointers for a 35-33 Buckeye margin.

That was as near as the Gopher ever got again, as Raidiger hit once, Brown twice in rapid succession and Donham boosted through a short push shot.

Ohio State's scrappy youngsters didn't take long to shove the capacity house they intended to upset the league-leaders. Raidiger batted in two straight baskets, one at the 35-second mark and another after a minute and (Continued on Next Page)

Hoosiers Stubborn In Battle

Raidiger Leads Buckeyes to 72-59 Victory

By CLARENCE YOUNG,
State Journal Sports Writer

Don't count Ohio State out of the Big Nine basketball race—yet. The Bucks kept their title hopes—however remote—alive last night at the Fairgrounds Coliseum by outscoring a stubborn Indiana team, 72 to 59, in a contest that was dizzier than the attendant of a carnival's merry-go-round.

The victory was the Bucks' fifth in eight Western Conference starts. For Indiana, it was the fourth defeat in six league outings and just about sounded the death knell for whatever title hopes the Hoosiers entertained.

HAVE A SAMPLE

To give you an idea of the weird proceedings here are a few samples:

Dick Schnittker, Ohio State scoring star, was held to eight points.

Gene Melzer, substitute forward for the Bucks, took up much of the slack with seven baskets and a free throw. Melzer had a perfect batting average for the first half, five for five. However, he missed a ridiculously easy shot late in the game.

Bob Donham, who generally teams with Schnittker to lead Ohio's point parade, didn't get a basket until the last six minutes. He wound up the evening with seven points.

Indiana's offense was paced by its two fleet guards, Gene Ring and Southpaw Jerry Stuteville. The long shot artists hit for 34 points, of which Ring pocketed 20. Stuteville also found time to give Mr. Schnittker considerable trouble with his defensive tactics.

The two officials—Carl Johnson and Alex Shaw—managed to get into the act with a number of lurid decisions, which many of 5773 customers greeted with cheers of the Bronx variety. It may be February but inside the Coliseum there was a full and fresh crop of raspberries in bloom last night. Fortunately, the officiating did not have a bearing on the game's outcome.

The big gun in the Ohio State assault was Center Bob Raidiger, who came through with 26 points to claim high-scoring honors.

For the Bucks, the triumph was not as easy as the final count would indicate. Ohio started the scoring chalking up two points quicker than it takes to tell about it.

Donham took the tip from center, whipped the ball to Schnittker, who went in for one of his favorite lay-up shots. Stuteville soon matched this and the battle was on.

HOOSIERS LEAD

Ohio State tried to pull away but the widest margin the Bucks could amass was 11-6. Later, after 10 minutes and 15 seconds had been played, Stuteville's fielder tied the score at 16-16. Melzer's second basket gave the home forces the upper hand again but Center Tom Schwartz knotted it, 18-18. Raidiger scored but so did Stuteville.

A Schnittker free throw after he had been fouled by Bill Tosheff permitted the Bucks to lead, 21-20. That villain Stuteville connected again with nine minutes remaining in the first half and Indiana went into the van for the initial time, 22-21. Ohio succeeded in knotting it again at 25-25 but three times the Hurryin' Hoosiers were in front by six points, 31-25, 33-27 and 35-29.

Three personal fouls in a row by Charlie Meyer of the visitors were converted into five points by Ohio. Jack Pfeiffer sinking one free throw and Raidiger four. With 34 seconds remaining in the half, Melzer found the range to put the Bucks ahead, 36-35.

Melzer, with two seconds to go, fouled Stuteville and that worthy capitalized on the opportunity to tie the half-time score at 36-36.

CLOSE BATTLING

During the first few minutes of the second half, the battling continued hectic and the score close. Indiana enjoyed the upper hand at 38-36, 39-38, 41-40, 42-40, 44-42 and 47-46, the last time with 11:36 to play.

Bob Brown then sank a fielder for the Bucks and thereafter Ohio State gradually compiled its final margin.

Both teams threw caution out the window, in sharp contrast to the conservative style of play that carried the Scarlet and Gray to a surprise conquest of Minnesota Saturday night.

Forty-seven fouls were assessed, 26 against Indiana and 21 against Ohio. Schnittker and Tosheff falling victims of the five-infraction rule but only after the issue had been settled. Each team had three players who were charged with four personals each.

ILLINOIS NEXT

Ohio State dropped in 23 of its 69 field goal attempts with Raidiger getting 11 out of 17. Melzer seven out of 12 and Brown four out of 10. The subdued Hoosier hit for 20 out of 83. Ring took 20 shots, of which nine dropped through the hoop. In the first half, each team scored 13 baskets and 10 free throws.

Ohio State was overshadowed in one department — from the free throw line. The Hoosiers missed only six of 25 charity tosses while the Bucks failed to collect on 11 of 27.

Next week-end, Coach Tippy Dye and his Bucks really have their work cut out for them. They play Illinois, the Big Nine leader, Saturday at Champaign and St. Louis, another top-notch, Monday at St. Louis.

Only two more home games remain on the Ohio State slate—Michigan Feb. 26 and Michigan State Feb. 28.

Retain Big Nine Top Spot

CHAMPAIGN, ILL., FEB. 12—Ohio State's Buckeyes virtually bowed out of the Western Conference basketball race here tonight by dropping a 64-49 decision to the red-hot Illini, who practically nailed down the Big Nine bunting with their verdict.

After the half ended 37-20, the Scarlet and Gray gave indications of overhauling the winners, but the closest they could ever come was eight points. These situations occurred at 47-39 and 57-49, but the Illini closed out with seven straight points in the last two minutes and the margin was out of reach.

Thus the Indians remain undefeated at home this season and maintain their league lead with a 7-1 record. For the Bucks, it was a fourth defeat in nine games.

Illini Have Too Much

As in the first game of the series in Columbus last month, the Illini had too much over-all strength. Bill Erickson, the blond bomber, paced his team with 15 points, getting five buckets in 17 shots. Wally Osterkorn had the same number of baskets and attempts, but three less free throws.

Bob Donham and Dick Schnittker had 13 points each for the Bucks, with Bob Raidiger one behind. However, the Ohioans made only 19 baskets in 78 shots, while the aspiring champions had 23 in 90. Illinois sunk 18 fouls in 29 tries and the Bucks dropped in 11 out of 20.

The speedy winners peppered the mesh from all angles, whereas the Bucks had to work the ball in close and then missed the hoop at critical stages.

The Illini took what appeared to be an unmountable lead at the start of the game, three points by both Kersulis and Erickson making the count 6-0 within 90 seconds. The lead then moved up to 14-2, with Bob Raidiger's bucket being the Bucks' lone counter. The Ohioans then clicked for eight straight points, but after the score reached 14-10, the Illini came back with six in a row to double the score at 20-10. A lay-up shot by Bob Donham and two free throws by Bob Burkholder reduced the lead to six points at 20-14, the closest accounting for the remainder of the half.

During the first half, Ohio State made only six baskets out of 35 shots while Illinois sunk 14 out of 53.

Fred Green dropped in four baskets out of seven shots to pace the individual averages.

J-V Cagers Lose Fourth Straight

The Junior Varsity cagers suffered their fourth straight defeat Saturday night at Athens, where they were handed a 60-54 setback by the Ohio University Frosh.

For the Junior Bucks, it was their sixth defeat in eight games, and the second dealt them by the Bobcats. The undefeated Ohio U. five scored a 40-32 win over the Bucks at the Coliseum on Jan. 22.

In the loss, the Bucks' center, Chuck Worthley, had himself a field night by racking up 24 points to take the game's high scoring honors. Leading the Bobcats were Forward Jack Betts with 16 points, and Guard Glen Hursey with 15.

Ohio U. led most of the first half, but the Bucks captured the lead in the latter part, and had a 28-27 advantage at halftime.

Billikens In Initial Home Loss

Bobby Donham
And Schnittker
Set Score Pace

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 14.—Giant-killing Ohio State was up to its old tricks tonight as it knocked off the nation's second - ranking basketball team from St. Louis University, 68-60, before a crowd of 10,214 in Kiel Auditorium.

It was the first defeat seen by a St. Louis crowd this season and the second setback for the St. Louis team in 18 games this year. It went with an earlier defeat by the Oklahoma Aggies.

Big guns in the Western Conference team's attack, as it gained its eleventh victory in 16 games, were Babby Donham and Dick Schnittker. Donham got nine field goals and 24 points, while Schnittker pitched in eight from the court and totaled 22 points.

BLOW TO BILLS

Aside from the margin of defeat, which approximated the difference rolled up by the Aggies and DePaul a year ago, it was one of the most decisive defeats St. Louis has suffered since it reached the big-time two years ago.

The Buckeyes beat the Billikens on the backboards, slowed them in the first half with a zone defense, then penetrated under the basket in the second half to make a game total of 26 baskets in 58 field goal attempts.

In the second half alone the Buckeyes threaded the hoop with 15 goals in 22 shots. A .681 percentage that was not to be denied after Ohio ran up a 32-27 half time lead.

SPORT YEAR
Basketball 1948-49

Donham, slipping down the free throw lane alley and under the basket for seven second half field goals, broke down the switching defense of the St. Louis team which six times trailed by as many as 10 points during the period.

BUCKS LEAD WAY

Schnittker, scoring late in the period, helped keep the Billikens at bay and give Ohio State another big victory to go with its recent conquest of Minnesota.

While the Bucks were outscoring St. Louis in the first half, 11 field goals to eight, the opening period developed into a duel between Schnittker and Donham on the Ohio side and Macauley and Schmidt on the Billiken team.

Schnittker came off with the honors in the first 20 minute period as he tallied five times, twice in the last four minutes of the session to give Ohio State a 32-27 edge at the intermission.

Dick's last two goals came on a fast-break that caught St. Louis with its defenses pretty well down.

Macauley had 13 points in the first half, but seven of the points were on free throws. All-America Ed paid off like a slot machine jackpot at the charity line, making seven out of seven.

LEAD CHANGES

Of the other leading characters in the opening period, Schmidt counted 11 points, including four field goals, while Donham counted eight points.

The Billiken strength was slightly diminished when Joe Ossola, a mainspring in the first five which has carried the burden through this season, drew four personal fouls. Ossola spent the last six minutes of the half on the bench, as Coach Hickey held him in reserve for the final period.

After the Bucks had taken the initial lead in the game the advantage changed six times in the first half. In the first quarter Ohio State had a 16-12 lead. The Big Nine boys built that up to 22-17, with outcourt shots by Brown and Jacobs accounting for four points, but St. Louis cut it back down and took a 24-23 lead.

Then came the speeding Schnittker and a fast break that gained the half time lead for the visitors.

THIS GAME COULD GO DOWN AS THE UPSET OF THE SEASON. THE BILLIKENS, NATIONAL CHAMPIONS LAST SEASON, AND RANKED 2ND PRIOR TO THIS GAME, HAD NOT BEEN BEATEN ON THEIR OWN COURT.

Second Loss Of Season

ST. LOUIS, FEB. 15.—(AP)—An underdog quintet of Ohio State Buckeyes staged a major basketball upset last night when they toppled the St. Louis Billikens, who are ranked second nationally, 68 to 60. It was the Bills' second defeat in 18 games.

While the game was easily an upset, it couldn't be written off as an accident. The Ohioans, led by Deadeye Dick Schnittker and Bob Donham, gave 10,000 wide-eyed fans in Kiel Auditorium a brilliant demonstration of under-the-basket play.

They Press—and Foul

The home team gave the Big Nine outfit a battle during the first half, which ended with the visitors holding a 32-27 edge. But the Buckeyes had things completely under control from there on. The Bills were forced to use pressing tactics and their anxiety to get the ball led to fouls.

When the game was over Ohio State players carried young Coach Tippy Dye off the floor on their shoulders. There should have been room up there for Donham and Schnittker too. The former scored 24 points and the latter was close behind with 22.

Ohio State, which is practically out of the Big Nine championship race, was only the second team to defeat the Bills on their home floor in two years. The Oklahoma Aggies turned the trick last season and again defeated the St. Louisians earlier this season at Stillwater, Okla.

Frist Home Setback For Great Team

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 15.—Ohio State defeated St. Louis U. 68-60, before 10,214 fans in Kiel Auditorium here last night.

It was the first home defeat for the Billikens this season and their second in 18 starts at home and abroad. Their other came at the hands of the Oklahoma Aggies.

Rated as the nation's second-best team the Billikens were unable to stop the sharp-shooting of Bobby Donham and Dick Schnittker, of the Buckeyes. Donham hooped nine fielders and six free throws for a total of 24 points. Schnittker connected with eight fielders and six free throws for 22. They led both teams in scoring.

Varied Style
The Bucks showed a well-rounded game and a varied style in leading most of the way.

Using a zone defense at the start and dominating play off the backboards the Tippy Dye coached team switched to a fast-breaking under-the-basket attack in the second half.

The Bucks' accuracy was amazing in the last half. They made good on 15 field shots out of 22 tries in that half. In the first half they made good on 11 of 26 tries for a game total of 26 out of 58 shots.

Led at Half
The Bucks led 32-27 at the half. They got off to a lead but it was nip-and-tuck during the first half, with the lead changing six times. The Bucks' superiority was marked in the second half. The visitors were ahead by 10 points on six occasions during the second half.

It's Only No. 2 Win For 'Cats

CHICAGO, FEB. 19.—Slipping from the sublime of Monday's upset victory over St. Louis, which was rated No. 2 in the nation, an unpredictable and ragged Ohio State quintet dropped a 62-50 decision to Northwestern at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

The cellar-dwelling Wildcats started a crowd of 10,052 with a superior display of shooting accuracy and control of the backboards. The defeat was the Buckeyes fifth in ten Western Conference starts and kept them from moving into a tie for third with Purdue, which lost to Indiana. It was Northwestern's second Big Nine win.

In the final summary, it was the failure of Ohio's front line of Dick Schnittker, Bob Raidiger and Bob Donham to maintain their average of 16 field goals per league game that led to the Bucks' downfall.

McIntyre Takes Lead

Among them, they notched nine goals and an equal number of free throws, with Donham netting nine (4-1), Schnittker the same total (2-5) and Raidiger, sinking three from the floor and the same number from the free throw line.

The rangy center's effort raised his point total to 147 in 10 contests. But Center Jim McIntyre notched 12 counters against Michigan to run his 10-game mark to 149 to move ahead of Raidiger in the Big Nine individual race.

Only the accuracy of the guards, juniors Gene Brown and Bob Burkholder kept the Purple from making a shambles of the score. Brown notched six goals, five of them left-handed long shots, and his running mate put in five before being evicted with five personals.

Coach "Dutch" Lonberg revised his lineup for the Bucks by starting George Maddock, 6-foot, 5-inch senior, at center and moving 6-foot, 4-inch Ray Ragelis to forward, while Bill Sticklen shifted to guard. The strategy paid off for Northwestern's second Big Nine victory as Maddock reaped 13 points, Ragelis nine, and Sticklen topped the mark-makers with 14.

Wildcats Play Their Best Game

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—(U.P.)—Northwestern's sophomore basketballers played their game of the year tonight, beating Ohio State before 10,052 fans in a Chicago Stadium upset, 62 to 50, for their second triumph in 10 Big Nine games.

The win avenged an early season defeat in Columbus for the rampaging Wildcats who played superbly in the second half. The two teams left the floor at intermission deadlocked at 25-all and it looked like anybody's game.

Even though the win could not lift the Wildcats out of the Big Nine basement, it was a terrific morale booster, coming over the team which on Monday bounced mighty St. Louis, 68-60. And the Wildcats, with four of their five starters scoring in double figures, showed from the very start that it would be a close contest.

It was give and take basketball for the first five minutes, but then the Buckeyes pulled out in front and stayed there with ease until only five minutes remained in the first half. Then Northwestern started to go and before the intermission the score was tied seven times with the teams taking a 25-25 deadlock to the dressing rooms.

The second half was all Northwestern. Ray Ragelis, usually the Wildcats' center who tonight played guard to hold Ohio's ace forward Dick Schnittker to nine points, hit a short shot and Northwestern was gone. In the first two minutes Ohio twice held the lead, each time short-lived and each time only one point.

Then Bill Sticklen, George Maddock and Ragelis began to connect regularly and they went away after that. Sticklen tallied 14 points to lead all scoring, but Maddock, Jake Fendley and Jim Barr each hit 13.

Gene Brown was Ohio State's scoring leader with 13 and Bob Burkholder had nine.

Ohio State Forced to 6th Place

Indiana Never Pressed in Its
65-45 Conquest

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Indiana University overtook Ohio State in the Big Nine basketball race tonight by clubbing the visiting Buckeyes, 65-45. The victory gave Indiana a five and five record in loop play and was Ohio State's sixth loss in 11 games.

The defeat sent the Bucks into sixth place.

The Hoosiers, paced by Bill Garrett and Lou Watson, thus avenged a previous 72-59 loss, suffered to Ohio State at Columbus. It was the Buckeyes' second successive league reverse after dropping a 62-50 decision to Northwestern Saturday.

Indiana never was pressed as it took the lead in the opening 20 seconds and fire-wagoned to a 25-19 halftime lead. The Hoosiers, using only six players, held Ohio State's high scoring triumvirate to only 28 points.

Cetner Bob Raidiger led Buckeye scoring with 16 points, Dick Schnittker was held to nine and Bob Donham collected only three.

Garrett and Watson each hit for 18 for Indiana and Jerry Stuteville canned 13.

The Hoosiers simply would not let up in their fast breaking play and Ohio State never had a chance in the second half. More than 10,000 fans watched the season's home finale for the Indiana team.

Schnittker Gets Back Old Form

By Paul Hornung

Ohio State's basketball team was consistently inconsistent again Saturday night. Result:

The Buckeyes closed their Big Nine season with a 6-6, 500 record by pouring it on Michigan 69-44, in the Fairgrounds Coliseum to the utter delight of most of the 6,125 fans.

That not only salvaged an even break for the conference campaign for Coach Tippy Dye's "up-and-down" outfit, but it avenged an earlier 54-48 defeat by the Wolverines at Ann Arbor. It likewise broke a three-game conference losing streak and gave the Scarlet a distinction of having beaten two of the three top teams in their league, Michigan and Minnesota, not to mention St. Louis U., No. 2 team in the nation.

High Scoring Percentage

Dick Schnittker, the Bucks ailing star, returned to something like his old form with 18 points and a great all-around brand of ball, but the tale of the victory lies in the scoring percentages—and in the Bucks' alertness off the boards.

Ohio State attempted 67 shots and bucketed 25 of them for a very torrid 37 per cent while the Wolverines were dunking only 16 of 87 pitches at the hoop, a paltry 18 per cent.

As an example of the Michigan 'fridity,' Max Suprunowicz, leading Wolverine scorer, hit a miserable four of 24 shots and second high scorer for the season, Guard Bob Harrison, tripped only two of 17.

However, the latter is not to detect from the Buck performance, the do-or-die men came to life mid-way in the first half and monopolized both boards and generally dominated play. Michigan's team appeared to fold under the pressure and was charged with foul after foul, many of them of a flagrant nature.

Both teams started off "cold." The first five minutes saw only nine points scored, five for Michigan and four for Ohio State. The score stood at only 11-9 for the Bucks with just over 10 minutes played.

But came the revolution. The Bucks started rebounding like mad and throwing the ball through the hoop from all angles. They monopolized play entirely.

After Brown's fielder tied the count at 9-9, Burkholder and Donham hit in quick succession. Brown added a long fielder from the side and Schnittker's goal cancelled Harrison's hook shot to make it 17-12.

Raidiger, who had gone without a point up to there, crashed through with two quick baskets and a free throw to mount the tally to 22-12 and his mates went on from there.

Michigan was never in the ball game during the rest of the first half as the suddenly-charged Buckeyes blazed away with uncanny shooting. They kept the margin no less than double Michigan's total and ended the session with a 36-18 lead.

After intermission, the Wolverines came out fighting furiously, but it was readily apparent they would get nowhere. The Bucks ran off and hid with the decision. Dye played his entire second team during the last 5:17.

This was Ohio's eighth victory in nine home starts, the only loss being to league-leading Illinois, 64-63. It was Michigan's fourth defeat in 10 starts. The Bucks have only Michigan State in the Coliseum Monday night and DePaul at Chicago Stadium next Saturday night on their schedule.

Buck Cagers Belt Wolves

By KAY KESSLER

Ohio State's basketball team was supposed to be in a slump, but the battling Buckeyes broke loose Saturday night to slap a 69-44 defeat on Michigan's defending Big Nine champs in their closing Conference game of the season.

The victory gave the Bucks, who still have two non-conference tilts on their schedule, a Conference record of six wins and six defeats. The defeat, worst suffered by the Wolverines this season, definitely knocked them out of a chance to retain their crown. It was their fourth loop loss against six wins.

Michigan stayed with the Bucks for the first eight minutes at 9-9 but from that point on the Bucks were unbeatable. Michigan midway in the final period.

With five and a half minutes remaining in the game and the Bucks on top 57-32, Dye pulled his starting five and let the reserves take over.

Michigan seemed to do nothing right and, in desperation to do something, committed 27 personal fouls before the game ended.

The Scarlet cagers wind their home schedule Monday night as they take on Michigan State in the Coliseum at 8 p. m. The Bucks will be shooting for the 13th win in 20 games.

Ohio State ends its season Saturday when it meets DePaul in Chicago stadium.

Ohio State toyed with an out-classed Michigan State team last night at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum as the Bucks concluded their home basketball season with a 70-51 victory.

A crowd of 5170 saw the Bucks' entire varsity squad of 14 players in action, not at one time however. Ben Van Alstyne called upon 12 players in his farewell as the Michigan State coach. The Spartans finished the season with nine victories and 12 defeats.

SCNITTKER NEAR RECORD

Ohio State now owns 13 victories in 20 starts. One game remains on the Buck slate—with DePaul Saturday at Chicago. Six of Ohio's seven defeats were absorbed on the road.

Dick Schnittker and Bob Raidiger were the Bucks' big guns in the easy victory over the Spartans, each collecting 19 points. Schnittker now lacks only seven of equalling the Ohio State scoring record of 322 points he established last year.

Top performers for the visitors were the two guards, Jim Snodgrass and Bob Robbins. Between them, they scored 27 points.

BUCKS NEVER TRAIL

Ohio State never trailed in its facile victory and only once was the score tied. That was at 2-2 when the game was but 45 seconds old. At half-time, Ohio State had doubled the score, 34-17, and with 12 minutes remaining, the count was still doubled, 46-23.

Coach Tippy Dye's cagers twice enjoyed a margin of as much as 30 points, 56-26 and 58-28. Each team attempted 76 fielders with Ohio hitting 28 and Michigan State 22. From the free throw line, the Bucks made 14 out of 22 and the Spartans seven out of 19.

Bob Gehan, Michigan State forward, had the dubious honor of missing six of seven free throw tries, including four in a row in the early minutes of the game.

OSU Trounces DePaul, 63-51, in Chicago Stadium

CHICAGO, Mar. 5 (UP)—Ohio State soundly trounced a speedy De Paul team in the Chicago Stadium tonight, 63 to 51, to close the season with a record of 14 victories in 21 games.

The game was rated an even contest, and for the first 10 minutes it was exactly that as De Paul pulled to a three-point lead, but couldn't improve that margin.

But then Bob Raidiger, the Buckeye center, netted an under-the-basket effort to give the visitors a one-point margin and they rolled away from there. Raidiger, Dick Schnittker and Bob Donham, the Buckeye front line, combined too much scoring punch and rebound strength for the local entry.

Schnittker, who was hitting under the basket, from the side and from every other angle, ended the night with 21 points before he fouled out late in the contest.

Raidiger, who played most of the last half with four fouls on him, was next to Schnittker in scoring with 15 points while Donham ended up with seven.

For De Paul Gordon Gillespie was the scoring bigwig with 14 points while Guard Chuck Allen dropped 10.

Wolves Upset In Finale

CHICAGO, MARCH 5 (UP)—Ohio State, sparked by Dick Schnittker's 21 points, whipped DePaul, 63-51, tonight before 8000 in the opener of a Chicago Stadium basketball doubleheader. It was the season finale for both teams.

Schnittker, the Bucks' brilliant forward sped to two new Ohio State scoring records tonight with 21 points against the DePauls. He thus finishes the season with 336 points, as compared to his own record of 322 for the regular season and Dr. Jimmy Hull's 327 record for all games set in 1939.

The Buckeyes, who held a 31-17 halftime lead, thus finished their campaign with a 14-7 record. They had ended their Big Nine season with 6-6.

It was the ninth setback against 16 wins for DePaul, which previously had beaten the Buckeyes in their only other Stadium meeting, in 1941.

The Blue Demons, led by Gordon Gillespie's 14 points, made a game of it after trailing by 16 points, 33-17, at the beginning of the second half.

However, the rangy Bucks had too much hustle and rebound skill, along with Schnittker's slick shooting, to be overtaken.

DePaul briefly held the lead at 5-2 and 9-6 early in the game. At the 10-minute mark, however, the Buckeyes had moved in front 13-9 and were never headed.
